SENATE CAUCUSES FRIDAY

REPUBLICANS WILL ORGANIZE BODY FOR GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Fight Over President Pro Tem Offers Most Interest

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6.—Machinery of the next general assembly will be placed in definite motion tomorrow when Republican members-elect of the state senate caucus here.

Since the new senate is unanimously Republican, every member-elect, for the first time in the state's history, will be eligible to attend the caucus.

The senators will nominate a president pro tem, senate clerk and other officials and will make committee assignments.

The caucus will be held behind closed doors, in conformance with the established custom.

The fight for leadership of the senate as president pro tem, centered today between Senator Paul Herbert, Columbus and Senator Allen M. Aigler, of Huron County.

Sixteen votes are necessary to elect and both Herbert and Aigler were claiming victory today.

Republican leaders, discussing the two candidates, expressed the opinion that neither man has yet mustered the required votes, but each has a strong following.

The Hamilton County delegation, as yet unpledged to either contender, is believed to hold the deciding votes although the Cuyahoga County delegation must be reckoned with.

The Cleveland senators, by standing solidly behind one candidate or the other, might prove the deciding factor.

Opposition to Aigler has developed over his alleged connection with public utilities interests.

Both the public utilities and the Anti-Saloon League have been charged with supporting him.

Herbert opposed the Marshall bill, backed by dry organizations and has supported legislation seeking the repeal of the Pence utilities law.

It was expected that Thomas E. Bateman, Columbus, will be elected senate clerk, without opposition.

The caucus also is expected to re-elect Edward P. Gibson as assistant clerk, and Col. Harry D. Knox, Marietta, as sergeant-at-arms.

House Republicans will caucus here next Wednesday and will select a speaker, floor leader, clerk and other officers.

A bitter fight for the house leadership is expected to develop.

There will be eleven Democrats in the house, one of the smallest minorities in history.

Speaker O. C. Gray, Cadiz, is seeking re-election and is considered the strongest candidate thus far in the field. His strongest opposition comes from John A. Hadden, Cleveland, and Dr. R. N. Haughey, Washington C. H.

Other candidates include the Rev J. H. T. Gordon, Logan County; Horace S. Keifer, Springfield, and Ray C. Carpenter, Seneca County.

Capt. John P. Maynard, of Lima, veteran clerk of the house, and Dr. Alfred Robinson, Ironton, sergeant-at-arms, apparently are assured of re-election.

ARREST MAN IN OLD SLAYING

STEUBENVILLE, O., Dec. 6.—George Robinson, 39, was taken to Columbus today for questioning in connection with the murder two years ago of Joseph Berry, of Groveport.

Berry was hacked to death with an ax in his home by a man, who according to police, had been attentive to Berry's wife. Robinson has been sought for questioning since, and a reward of $500 was posted for his arrest.

Patrolman George Smith, who worked with Robinson in a mill here years ago, recognized the fugitive yesterday as Robinson walked past the patrolman's home.

Robinson left here six years ago after a quarrel with his wife, saying he was going to England. Instead, police said, he went to Columbus, found employment, and was boarding in a house next door to the Berrys at the time of the murder.

ROB JEWELER OF GEMS, CASH

FLINT, Mich., Dec. 6.—Held up as he stepped off a train from Detroit, James Frankel, wholesale jeweler with offices in Cleveland, was robbed of $17,000 in uncut gems and $1600 in cash last night.

He had the stones in one wallet and his money, a $1000 bill, a $500 and a $100 bill in another.

KIDNAPED GAMBLER FREED

OPPOSITION TO KELLOGG ANTI-WAR TREATY GROWING IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—An unorganized but nevertheless threatening opposition to the Kellogg anti-war treaty has suddenly found root in the senate.

How formidable it will grow remains to be developed. At present it amounts to a determined stand against the treaty by Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, with a doubt in the minds of half a dozen other senators which will have to be dissipated if the treaty is to get the overwhelming majority of ratification its adherents expected.

Secretary of State Kellogg has been directed by the foreign relations committee to appear before it tomorrow in an effort to straighten the matter.

SUSPECTED GANGSTERS HELD IN CLEVELAND; DENY ANY GUILT

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6.—Twenty-one men, suspected gangsters, bootleggers or racketeers, were grouped together at Central Police Station today while detectives searched for four more believed to be at large.

The men were rounded up in a raid on a half-dozen rooms at the Statler Hotel yesterday. Eighteen loaded automatics, ammunition and a small quantity of whiskey were taken from them. Two of the original twenty-three were released.

Detectives, after a day spent in quizzing the men through Italian interpreters, still were at a loss for an explanation of the gathering here.

The suspects insisted their presence here had no evil protent and detectives were of another opinion, but their theories differed.

Seven American cities are represented in the addresses given. They are Chicago, Gary, St. Louis, Brooklyn, Newark, N. J., Islam, N. J., and Tampa, Fla. One Clevelander was in the group.

Police Inspector George J. Matowitz advanced the theory that the men were here for a convention of liquor dealers, preparing for the Christmas trade.

He saw in the Tampa delegation the liquor source, and the other men, he said, probably were wholesalers prepared to stock up for the holiday trade in their respective cities.

Gustav J. Simon, deputy prohibition inspector, who said he recognized two or three of the men from his previous Chicago assignment, expressed the opinion the men were connected with the bootleg liquor and corn sugar traffic.

Other members of the force had the "hunch" that the armed force was here plotting activities in the dry cleaning racket. Questioning of the men by detectives, Simon and W. H. Flynn, federal immigration inspector, revealed nothing, detectives said.

No charges have been placed against any of the group. In anticipation of habeas corpus writs, detectives were preparing to file suspicious person charges and ask $10,000 bond on each.

Whether gun-toting charges could be made to stick was considered doubtful, inasmuch as most of the guns were found in luggage rather than on persons, and the men were domiciled in hotels, legally their "home," detectives said.

KING GEORGE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT AND FAMILY IS HOPEFUL

Ruler Fighting Off Lung Infection; Sons Hurry Home

LONDON, Dec. 6.—King George, his condition alternately encouraging or alarming as his illness progresses, gave the royal family satisfaction and hope today as his system fought off the infection in his lung.

During the several recent crises unspoken fear was aroused that the king might die before the Prince of Wales could complete his hurried trip home from Africa. Today the palace household awaited with confidence the arrival of the Prince at his father's bedside by the middle of next week.

The king passed a fair night and his temperature was lower this morning.

Queen Mary has cancelled the Christmas celebrations at Sandringham due to the king's illness.

Meanwhile, the Prince of Wales and his brother the Duke of Gloucester were hurrying in different directions with the same objective in view. The Prince of Wales has sailed from Aden, Arabia, for Suez and the Duke of Gloucester is speeding across South Africa for Capetown—both intent on reaching their father's bedside in the least possible time.

It is likely that the Prince of Wales will shortly be promoted to the rank of general in the army and admiral in the navy, since it will be necessary for him to represent the King at numerous important functions. He is now a colonel in the army and a captain in the navy.

BANK WILL REOPEN

KENTON, O., Dec. 6.—The Kenton Savings Bank and Trust Company which was closed here recently, will reopen about January 15, it was announced today. The state banking department has had charge of the institution, the closing of which resulted from a run.

NOAH BEERY'S WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Marguerite Beery, wife of Noah Beery, filed suit here for divorce, charging her husband threatened her with a pistol, threw her to the floor, and choked her almost into unconsciousness.

She declared that on the night he threatened her she was forced to flee from their home, clad only in a nightgown, to summon a policeman for protection.

She asked alimony, custody of their son, Noah Wilbur Beery, 15, and a share in the property valued at $200,000.

Beery was ordered to appear in court December 14 to answer the complaint.

FOREIGN FLYERS SEE EXPOSITION

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Flying in a fleet of tri-motored airplanes, 100 representatives of fifty foreign nations will arrive here late today to visit the International Aeronautical Exposition.

They will take off from Cleveland, where they were to arrive early today, at 1 p. m. and land here at 4 p. m.

One of the chief purposes of the exposition is to bring together government aviation officials and manufacturers.

Forty-five manufacturers' representatives made a plea to the federal officials for liberal regulations, holding that if rules were too rigid the industry would be hampered and individuality in airplane making suppressed.

Sues Dry Raiders

Betty Heywood, 22-year-old British subject, of Lorain, O., who was shot by dry raiders, when the driver of a car in which she was riding ignored a command to halt, has brought suit for $50,000 against Louis Cicco, patrolman who fired the shot, and all others in any way involved in the attack.

AGED WOMAN BEATEN TO DEATH; FANATIC SOUGHT BY POLICE

Recluse Found Slain In Home; Robbery May Be Motive

TOWANDA, Pa., Dec. 6.—Surrounded by a pile of her clothing, which had been torn to shreds, the nude body of Mrs. Samuel Jones, 63, was found in her home near here.

The aged woman, a recluse, had been beaten to death sometime yesterday, it was believed.

The woman's head was battered severely and the rest of her body bore scars and deep bruises.

Police indicated they believed the murder had been committed by a religious fanatic or a degenerate robber.

The body was found late yesterday when the suspicion of neighbors was aroused because Mrs. Jones' automobile had been abandoned in the middle of a road leading to her home. Forcing an entrance to the house the body was found.

Practically the entire house had been wrecked. Mrs. Jones' body was found beside the wreckage of her bed.

Three other rooms in the house carried evidence of the desperate battle the woman had waged for her life—blood stains were found on the floors, walls and furniture in these rooms.

Police are divided in their theories as to the cause of the murder. One group holds to robbery as a motive while the other inclines to the belief the crime was that of a religious fanatic.

OHIO CAVERNS ARE SOLD FOR $375,000

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 6.—Cincinnati capitalists have acquired the Ohio Caverns near West Liberty, for $375,000, it was announced today. The caverns are situated under 100 acres of picturesque land near West Liberty.

The former owners were Albert H. and Ira E. Smith. The new owners did not say what they contemplate doing with the caverns but it is expected they will install accommodations for tourists and resume showing the caves on a commercial basis.

LOUISVILLE BOOKMAKER IS SAFE AT HOME

Released As Men Were Frightened By Publicity

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6.—Ed Alvey, prominent Louisville bookmaker and gambler who has been missing since Monday, returned to his home here today and told a story of being kidnaped and held for ransom.

Alvey said he was forced into an automobile, at the point of a gun, near his home Monday night. He was blindfolded with adhesive tape, he said.

"I didn't know where they took me," Alvey said. "They changed automobiles once, and we rode for more than an hour. Then we got out and they took me into a building."

The sixty-year-old gambler said he was released last midnight apparently when his abductors became frightened over the newspaper publicity given his disappearance.

Alvey telephoned a hotel here shortly after his release. He was in New Albany, Ind., at the time.

The bookmaker said he did not pay any ransom although the kidnapers were planning on "shaking him down," he said.

Alvey said he was drawn to the abductors' automobile by a decoy who posed as an acquaintance from Cincinnati.

"The man asked me if I remembered him," Alvey said, "and asked me if I wanted to go for a ride. A car was parked nearby and I unconsciously walked toward it.

"The man then drew a revolver and somebody got out of the car, grabbed my elbow and shoved me into the car."

A woman residing nearby saw Alvey abducted. She said six men kidnaped him. Alvey said he believed three men were in the party.

YOUTH ADMITS SLAYING MAN

LOGAN, O., Dec. 6—Ray Featheroff, 19-year-old Hocking County youth, confessed here today that he shot and killed Jacob Konchler, who was found dead in his home near Mount Crossing, early this week, according to county officials.

The boy admitted the shooting to Deputy Sheriff E. F. Hammond in his cell in the county jail.

Featheroff, according to Hammond, said that his dog was chasing a rabbit near Konchler's home and Konchler invited him into the house.

Konchler said, according to the boy's story, that he owed many debts and could not pay them and that he wanted him to kill him. The boy, according to the deputy, shot the man when he promised to give him his farm.

BABY DEATH PUZZLES

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6.—Mystery surrounding the death of a six months old baby whose body was found in a trunk here, apparently reached the insoluble stage today and persons being questioned by police were released. The body had been in the trunk for two years when it was discovered.

GETS LIFE TERM, SHOOTS, IS KILLED

After he had wounded one court attendant and hit another over the head with a revolver, Sidney "Whitey" Weiss, a four h offender, was shot to death by Captain John Doyle, chief of the criminal court attendants, in New York City. Weiss had just been sentenced to life imprisonment at Sing Sing, drawing the pistol as he was being led to the Tombs. Central Press telephoto shows the body of Weiss being carried from the Tombs, and inset of the slain gangster.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER CHEERED BY MANY LEAVING PERU

Bolivian Mission To Greet Party At Chilean Port

ABOARD THE U. S. S. MARYLAND, Dec. 6. — President-elect Herbert Hoover bade farewell to Peru—the second of the South American countries to be visited on his Latin American tour—early today.

Several thousand persons gathered at the docks and enthusiastically cheered the Hoover party as it left in launches for the Maryland, anchored in the harbor.

The next stop of the Maryland will be made at Antofagasta, Chile, where a mission representing the Bolivian government will take lunch aboard the vessel and confer with Mr. Hoover.

Due to limits of time on his tour, the American president-elect was unable to accept the Bolivian government's invitation to visit La Paz, the capital, but felt that even a brief conference with government officials would be helpful.

Numerous cases, containing gifts which Mr. Hoover and members of the party received during the visit to Peru were loaded on the Maryland just before sailing.

The most valued gift was an Inca robe, recently discovered when an ancient tomb of the Indian capital was excavated. Archaelogists place the age of the robe at 2,000 years, but from its well preserved state, one would think it was made recently. The robe was presented to Mr. Hoover by President Augusto B. Legula of Peru.

Another gift from the ancient Inca ruins which Mr. Hoover received was a solid gold mask. It is considered a priceless treasure.

During the day, Mrs. Hoover, her son Allan and members of the party did considerable Christmas shopping in Lima and visited a number of antique shops.

The president-elect has virtually decided to eliminate Mexico in the itinerary of his present tour and probably will go direct to Florida from Havana, Cuba. He may visit Mexico in February, however.

POLICE FIND MOST COMPLETE STILL IN RAID ON WEDNESDAY

Apparatus Believed Finest Ever Taken In County.

Raiding a residence at 432 E. Church St., rented a month ago by Charles Mowen, 54, police confiscated Wednesday afternoon a 100-gallon capacity still, described as the most complete liquor manufacturing apparatus ever seized in Greene County.

The still, the first confiscated by police for several years, was comparatively new and is estimated to have cost more than $200 to equip.

The apparatus itself consisted of a huge copper contrivance with two sets of copper coils. The equipment included two gas burners, an air pressure tank and pump, eight barrels of mash, fifty empty gallon cans and a quantity of unmixed corn meal and bran. Two trips were made to convey all of the paraphernalia to Police Headquarters in a large truck.

The raid was conducted by Patrolmen Fred Jones, Charles Thompson and J. E. Craig.

Ownership of the still has not been definitely established. The plant was discovered in a rear room of the residence.

Mowen, taken into custody by the same officers later in the day, denied knowledge of the existence of the still. He told police that he had rented the house a month ago from a Mrs. Thomas, colored, and that two weeks ago he sub-let the back room to two colored men whose names he did not know, for use as a storage room. He said the room was kept locked and that he did not know to what use it was being put. He rented the room for $3 a month to the pair, he said.

Police expect to conduct a thorough investigation and meanwhile are holding Mowen at Police Headquarters.

RADIO AIDS SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN

MEDINA, O., Dec. 6.—Radio was resorted to today by Sheriff Neal Roshon in an effort to find some trace of Guy Rasor, 46, of Wadsworth, who has been missing since Monday.

Rasor gained notoriety twenty years ago when he was convicted of shooting to death Ora Lee, 25, two days before he was to have married the girl. He denied all connection with the murder but was obliged to serve eight years of a twenty-year sentence.

After his parole, he returned here and married.

POLICE FIND CHILD FROM INFORMATION GIVEN BY SUSPECT

Man Arrested Admits Attack On Missing New York Boy

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The body of Joseph Storelli, 7, who was murdered and buried in the Meadow Swampland near Secaucus, N. J., was found by detectives today.

The detectives began searching for the body at dawn after they had received word from Detroit police that Peter Kudzinowski had confessed to kidnaping the boy, slashing his throat, and hurling the body from the Susquehanna bridge.

The body of the boy, who lived in New York, was found near the Susquehanna Railroad embankment. It bore evidence of brutal mistreatment.

The boy's throat had been cut from ear to ear—so deeply that the head was nearly severed.

At dawn today a squad of sixty policemen clad in hunting togs, began a search of the meadows under direction of Captain William Hogue of the Jersey City police force, Inspector John Underwood and Captain John Stork, who konwg every inch of the Secaucus meadows.

After an hour of search, Captain Hogue came upon the body hidden under a brown overcoat.

Sightseers began to swarm over the meadows when the captain called out that he had found the body. The road was soon lined with automobiles.

The body was lying face downward in the tall grass.

The clothing, which consisted of a blue sweater, brown overalls, shirt and white underwear, was disarranged and blood-stained.

The boy's arms were stretched over his head. His salt and pepper cap lay five feet away.

Hurried examination revealed a large bruise on the back over the right kidney. The body was frozen.

Captain Hogue said the condition of the body indicated the boy had struggled to escape his attacker.

After police had examined the body and checked its clothing with descriptions furnished by Joseph's parents, who live on the east side here, they said there was no doubt that the body was that of the missing boy.

BERGER BILL WOULD PUNISH WEARING OF DISGUISE ON ROADS

Measure Aimed At Klan; Provides Federal Offense

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A bill making it a federal offense punishable by a fine of $5,000 and ten years imprisonment or both, for "any two or more persons to go in disguise upon public highways" was ready for introduction today by Rep. Victor L. Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin.

Commenting on the measure, Berger said:

"My bill proposes to re-enact in several important particulars the acts passed in 1870 and 1871 against the Ku Klux Klan of that time."

"The recent campaign has shown how deeply rooted race and religious prejudice has become, and the danger of permitting organizations which fan the flames of intolerance to continue to function. Issues of tremendous importance were completely disregarded while the religious questions became dominant," Berger said.

"The U. S. supreme court recently called attention to the danger of the Klan. It pointed out that the Klan was a revival of the earlier Klan with additional features borrowed from the know nothing and A. P. A. of other days, that it was conducting a crusade against Catholics, Jews, negroes and stimulating hurtful religious and race prejudices; and that it took into its own hands the punishment of what some of its members conceived to be crimes."

The bill would authorize the president to use land and naval forces and the militia, if necessary to execute the judicial process.

HUNTER FOUND DEAD

COSHOCTON, O., Dec. 6.—A heart attack apparently caused the death of W. T. Zinkon, 73, who had been missing since he left home Monday to go hunting. His body was found in a woodland east of the city yesterday by a member of a searching party.

SHOPPING NEWS HAS NO PLACE IN RETAILING SAYS SPEAKER

ADA, O., Dec. 6.—The Shopping News, an advertising sheet devoted entirely to local competition among merchants, has no place in modern retail merchandizing, H. E. C. Rowe, secretary and field manager of the Ohio Newspaper Association told the Ada Kiwanis Club last night.

"The Shopping News is the most selfish venture known to modern business," Rowe said. "It revives the half-forgotten idea of internal competition, setting one local merchant up against another."

The progressive merchant's business promotion today consists of enlarging the field of his business, the secretary stated. Unity among local competitive business houses in developing a greater trading area for their city is the keynote of modern merchandizing.

In contrast to "the purely selfish" ends gained by a shopping news, Rowe explained the modern newspaper and its mission.

"The newspaper is the greatest potential factor in selling a town to the people of its trading area. There is no other medium that can effectively take its place."

The speaker then told of the civic importance of the newspaper. He also pointed out that if advertising receipts of a paper decrease, the news colums and, indirectly, the town itself must suffer.

CO-EDS BEAT MEN IN MEAT JUDGING CONTEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—University of Nebraska co-eds—girls who spent their spare time judging choice cuts of beef, veal and pork—were winners today in the intercollegiate meat judging competition at the International Livestock Exposition, defeating Kansas Agricultural College and Ohio State University, composed of men, by some seventy-five points.

Ohio State was represented by Stephen L. Burk, F. Burdette Boyer, Herbert A. Carry and Leslie S. Hartzell, the latter an alternate.

Kansas was second and Ohio State was third.

Members of each team were asked to identify twenty-six cuts from the three major meat animals—beef, mutton and pork.

Nebraska's prize-winning co-eds—Louise Genung, Marjorie Thompson and Winnie Powell—also won two first places in the individual rankings and took another first in the pork judging contest.

Ohio State scored 2248 out of a possible 2700, just a shade lower than the Kansas Aggie team which rolled up 2249 points.

The Buckeyes finished far ahead of Kansas in pork judging but dropped behind the winners of second place in beef and mutton.

In the individual rankings, Boyer placed eighth with 753 points out of a possible 900 while Carry was ninth with 751.

Ohio State's best rating was in the beef judging contest, where the Buckeyes scored 985 points out of a possible 1200, giving them second place. Kansas Aggies won first.

In the pork judging, with 900 points possible, Ohio State finished third, behind Kansas Aggies and Missouri, with 763 points.

The Buckeyes were seventh in the mutton contest with a score of 500 out of a possible 600, being ahead of only Pennsylvania and Oklahoma.

FOREIGN FLYERS SEE EXPOSITION

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Flying in a fleet of tri-motored airplanes, 100 representatives of fifty foreign nations will arrive here late today to visit the International Aeronautical Exposition.

They will take off from Cleveland, where they were to arrive early today, at 1 p. m. and land here at 4 p. m.

One of the chief purposes of the exposition is to bring together government aviation officials and manufacturers.

Forty-five manufacturers' representatives made a plea to the federal officials for liberal regulations, holding that if rules were too rigid the industry would be hampered and individuality in airplane making suppressed.

Sues Dry Raiders

Betty Heywood, 22-year-old British subject, of Lorain, O., who was shot by dry raiders, when the driver of a car in which she was riding ignored a command to halt, has brought suit for $50,000 against Louis Cicco, patrolman who fired the shot, and all others in any way involved in the attack.

AGED WOMAN BEATEN TO DEATH; FANATIC SOUGHT BY POLICE

Recluse Found Slain In Home; Robbery May Be Motive

TOWANDA, Pa., Dec. 6.—Surrounded by a pile of her clothing, which had been torn to shreds, the nude body of Mrs. Samuel Jones, 63, was found in her home near here.

The aged woman, a recluse, had been beaten to death sometime yesterday, it was believed.

The woman's head was battered severely and the rest of her body bore scars and deep bruises.

Police indicated they believed the murder had been committed by a religious fanatic or a degenerate robber.

The body was found late yesterday when the suspicion of neighbors was aroused because Mrs. Jones' automobile had been abandoned in the middle of a road leading to her home. Forcing an entrance to the house the body was found.

Practically the entire house had been wrecked. Mrs. Jones' body was found beside the wreckage of her bed.

Three other rooms in the house carried evidence of the desperate battle the woman had waged for her life—blood stains were found on the floors, walls and furniture in these rooms.

Police are divided in their theories as to the cause of the murder. One group holds to robbery as a motive while the other inclines to the belief the crime was that of a religious fanatic.

OHIO CAVERNS ARE SOLD FOR $375,000

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 6.—Cincinnati capitalists have acquired the Ohio Caverns near West Liberty, for $375,000, it was announced today. The caverns are situated under 100 acres of picturesque land near West Liberty.

The former owners were Albert H. and Ira E. Smith. The new owners did not say what they contemplate doing with the caverns but it is expected they will install accommodations for tourists and resume showing the caves on a commercial basis.

LOUISVILLE BOOKMAKER IS SAFE AT HOME

Released As Men Were Frightened By Publicity

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6.—Ed Alvey, prominent Louisville bookmaker and gambler who has been missing since Monday, returned to his home here today and told a story of being kidnaped and held for ransom.

Alvey said he was forced into an automobile, at the point of a gun, near his home Monday night. He was blindfolded with adhesive tape, he said.

"I didn't know where they took me," Alvey said. "They changed automobiles once, and we rode for more than an hour. Then we got out and they took me into a building."

The sixty-year-old gambler said he was released last midnight apparently when his abductors became frightened over the newspaper publicity given his disappearance.

Alvey telephoned a hotel here shortly after his release. He was in New Albany, Ind., at the time.

The bookmaker said he did not pay any ransom although the kidnapers were planning on "shaking him down," he said.

Alvey said he was drawn to the abductors' automobile by a decoy who posed as an acquaintance from Cincinnati.

"The man asked me if I remembered him," Alvey said, "and asked me if I wanted to go for a ride. A car was parked nearby and I unconsciously walked toward it.

"The man then drew a revolver and somebody got out of the car, grabbed my elbow and shoved me into the car."

A woman residing nearby saw Alvey abducted. She said six men kidnaped him. Alvey said he believed three men were in the party.

YOUTH ADMITS SLAYING MAN

LOGAN, O., Dec. 6—Ray Featheroff, 19-year-old Hocking County youth, confessed here today that he shot and killed Jacob Konchler, who was found dead in his home near Mount Crossing, early this week, according to county officials.

The boy admitted the shooting to Deputy Sheriff E. F. Hammond in his cell in the county jail.

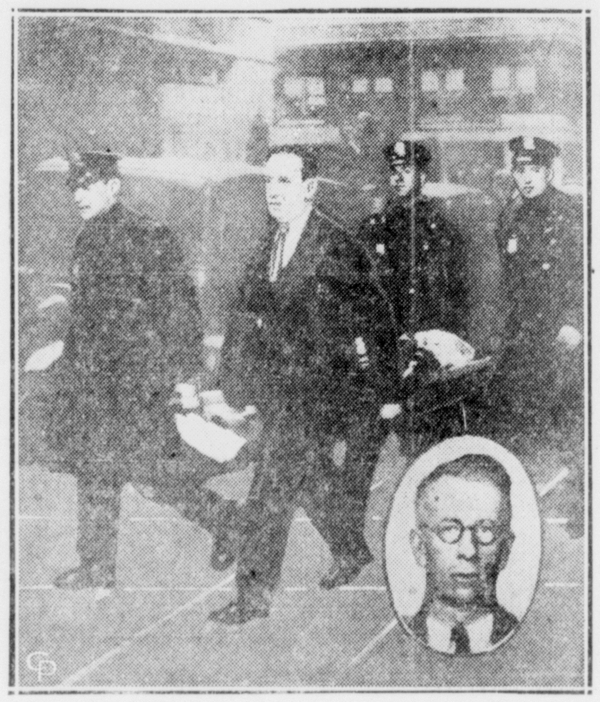
Featheroff, according to Hammond, said that his dog was chasing a rabbit near Konchler's home and Konchler invited him into the house.

Konchler said, according to the boy's story, that he owed many debts and could not pay them and that he wanted him to kill him. The boy, according to the deputy, shot the man when he promised to give him his farm.

BABY DEATH PUZZLES

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6.—Mystery surrounding the death of a six months old baby whose body was found in a trunk here, apparently reached the insoluble stage today and persons being questioned by police were released. The body had been in the trunk for two years when it was discovered.

GETS LIFE TERM, SHOOTS, IS KILLED



After he had wounded one court attendant and hit another over the head with a revolver, Sidney "Whitey" Weiss, a four h offender, was shot to death by Captain John Doyle, chief of the criminal court attendants, in New York City. Weiss had just been sentenced to life imprisonment at Sing Sing, drawing the pistol as he was being led to the Tombs. Central Press telephoto shows the body of Weiss being carried from the Tombs, and inset of the slain gangster.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER CHEERED BY MANY LEAVING PERU

Bolivian Mission To Greet Party At Chilean Port

ABOARD THE U. S. S. MARYLAND, Dec. 6. — President-elect Herbert Hoover bade farewell to Peru—the second of the South American countries to be visited on his Latin American tour—early today.

Several thousand persons gathered at the docks and enthusiastically cheered the Hoover party as it left in launches for the Maryland, anchored in the harbor.

The next stop of the Maryland will be made at Antofagasta, Chile, where a mission representing the Bolivian government will take lunch aboard the vessel and confer with Mr. Hoover.

Due to limits of time on his tour, the American president-elect was unable to accept the Bolivian government's invitation to visit La Paz, the capital, but felt that even a brief conference with government officials would be helpful.

Numerous cases, containing gifts which Mr. Hoover and members of the party received during the visit to Peru were loaded on the Maryland just before sailing.

The most valued gift was an Inca robe recently discovered when an ancient tomb of the Indian capital was excavated. Archaeologists place the age of the robe at 2,000 years, but from its well preserved state, one would think it was made recently. The robe was presented to Mr. Hoover by President Augusto B. Legula of Peru.

Another gift from the ancient Inca ruins which Mr. Hoover received was a solid gold mask. It is considered a priceless treasure.

During the day, Mrs. Hoover, her son Allan and members of the party did considerable Christmas shopping in Lima and visited a number of antique shops.

The president-elect has virtually decided to eliminate Mexico in the itinerary of his present tour and probably will go direct to Florida from Havana, Cuba. He may visit Mexico in February, however.

SHOPPING NEWS HAS NO PLACE IN RETAILING SAYS SPEAKER

ADA, O., Dec. 6.—The Shopping News, an advertising sheet devoted entirely to local competition among merchants, has no place in modern retail merchandizing, H. E. C. Rowe, secretary and field manager of the Ohio Newspaper Association told the Ada Kiwanis Club last night.

"The Shopping News is the most selfish venture known to modern business," Rowe said. "It revives the half-forgotten idea of internal competition, setting one local merchant up against another."

The progressive merchant's business promotion today consists of enlarging the field of his business, the secretary stated. Unity among local competitive business houses in developing a greater trading area for their city is the keynote of modern merchandizing.

In contrast to "the purely selfish" ends gained by a shopping news, Rowe explained the modern newspaper and its mission.

"The newspaper is the greatest potential factor in selling a town to the people of its trading area. There is no other medium that can effectively take its place."

The speaker then told of the civic importance of the newspaper. He also pointed out that if advertising receipts of a paper decrease, the news colums and, indirectly, the town itself must suffer.

CO-EDS BEAT MEN IN MEAT JUDGING CONTEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—University of Nebraska co-eds—girls who spent their spare time judging choice cuts of beef, veal and pork—were winners today in the intercollegiate meat judging competition at the International Livestock Exposition, defeating Kansas Agricultural College and Ohio State University, composed of men, by some seventy-five points.

Ohio State was represented by Stephen L. Burk, F. Burdette Boyer, Herbert A. Carry and Leslie S. Hartzell, the latter an alternate.

Kansas was second and Ohio State was third.

Members of each team were asked to identify twenty-six cuts from the three major meat animals—beef, mutton and pork.

Nebraska's prize-winning co-eds—Louise Gehung, Marjorie Thompson and Winnie Powell—also won two first places in the individual rankings and took another first in the pork judging contest.

Ohio State scored 2248 out of a possible 2700, just a shade lower than the Kansas Aggie team which rolled up 2249 points.

The Buckeyes finished far ahead of Kansas in pork judging but dropped behind the winners of second place in beef and mutton.

In the individual rankings, Boyer placed eighth with 753 points out of a possible 900 while Carry was ninth with 751.

Ohio State's best rating was in the beef judging contest, where the Buckeyes scored 985 points out of a possible 1200, giving them second place. Kansas Aggies won first.

In the pork judging, with 900 points possible, Ohio State finished third, behind Kansas Aggies and Missouri, with 763 points.

The Buckeyes were seventh in the mutton contest with a score of 500 out of a possible 600, being ahead of only Pennsylvania and Oklahoma.

POLICE FIND CHILD FROM INFORMATION GIVEN BY SUSPECT

Man Arrested Admits Attack On Missing New York Boy

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The body of Joseph Storelli, 7, who was murdered and buried in the Meadow Swampland near Secaucus, N. J., was found by detectives today.

The detectives began searching for the body at dawn after they had received word from Detroit police that Peter Kudzinowski had confessed to kidnaping the boy, slashing his throat, and hurling the body from the Susquehanna bridge.

The body of the boy, who lived in New York, was found near the Susquehanna Railroad embankment. It bore evidence of brutal mistreatment.

The boy's throat had been cut from ear to ear—so deeply that the head was nearly severed.

At dawn today a squad of sixty policemen clad in hunting togs, began a search of the meadows under direction of Captain William Hogue of the Jersey City police force. Inspector John Underwood and Captain John Stork, who konwg every inch of the Secaucus meadows.

After an hour of search, Captain Hogue came upon the body hidden under a brown overcoat.

Sightseers began to swarm over the meadows when the captain called out that he had found the body. The road was soon lined with automobiles.

The body was lying face downward in the tall grass.

The clothing, which consisted of a blue sweater, brown overalls, shirt and white underwear, was disarranged and blood-stained.

The boy's arms were stretched over his head. His salt and pepper cap lay five feet away.

Hurried examination revealed a large bruise on the back over the right kidney. The body was frozen.

Captain Hogue said the condition of the body indicated the boy had struggled to escape his attacker.

After police had examined the body and checked its clothing with descriptions furnished by Joseph's parents, who live on the east side here, they said there was no doubt that the body was that of the missing boy.

POLICE FIND MOST COMPLETE STILL IN RAID ON WEDNESDAY

Apparatus Believed Finest Ever Taken In County.

Raiding a residence at 432 E. Church St., rented a month ago by Charles Mowen, 54, police confiscated Wednesday afternoon a 100-gallon capacity still, described as the most complete liquor manufacturing apparatus ever seized in Greene County.

The still, the first confiscated by police for several years, was comparatively new and is estimated to have cost more than $200 to equip.

The apparatus itself consisted of a huge copper contrivance with two sets of copper coils. The equipment included two gas burners, an air pressure tank and pump, eight barrels of mash, fifty empty gallon cans and a quantity of unmixed corn meal and bran. Two trips were made to convey all of the paraphernalia to Police Headquarters in a large truck.

The raid was conducted by Patrolmen Fred Jones, Charles Thompson and J. E. Craig.

Ownership of the still has not been definitely established. The plant was discovered in a rear room of the residence.

Mowen, taken into custody by the same officers later in the day, denied knowledge of the existence of the still. He told police that he had rented the house a month ago from a Mrs. Thomas, colored, and that two weeks ago he sub-let the back room to two colored men whose names he did not know, for use as a storage room. He said the room was kept locked and that he did not know to what use it was being put. He rented the room for $2 a month to the pair, he said.

Police expect to conduct a thorough investigation and meanwhile are holding Mowen at Police Headquarters.

RADIO AIDS SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN

MEDINA, O., Dec. 6.—Radio was resorted to today by Sheriff Neal Roshon in an effort to find some trace of Guy Rasor, 46, of Wadsworth, who has been missing since Monday.

Rasor gained notoriety twenty years ago when he was convicted of shooting to death Ora Lee, 25, two days before he was to have married the girl. He denied all connection with the murder but was obliged to serve eight years of a twenty-year sentence.

After his parole, he returned here and married.

BERGER BILL WOULD PUNISH WEARING OF DISGUISE ON ROADS

Measure Aimed At Klan; Provides Federal Offense

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A bill making it a federal offense punishable by a fine of $5,000 and ten years imprisonment or both, for "any two or more persons to go in disguise upon public highways" was ready for introduction today by Rep. Victor L. Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin.

Commenting on the measure, Berger said:

"My bill proposes to re-enact in several important particulars the acts passed in 1870 and 1871 against the Ku Klux Klan of that time."

"The recent campaign has shown how deeply rooted race and religious prejudice has become, and the danger of permitting organizations which fan the flames of intolerance to continue to function. Issues of tremendous importance were completely disregarded while the religious questions became dominant," Berger said.

"The U. S. supreme court recently called attention to the danger of the Klan. It pointed out that the Klan was a revival of the earlier Klan with additional features borrowed from the know nothing and A. P. A. of other days, that it was conducting a crusade against Catholics, Jews, negroes and stimulating hurtful religious and race prejudices; and that it took into its own hands the punishment of what some of its members conceived to be crimes."

The bill would authorize the president to use land and naval forces and the militia, if necessary to execute the judicial process.

HUNTER FOUND DEAD

COSHOCTON, O., Dec. 6.—A heart attack apparently caused the death of W. T. Zinkon, 73, who had been missing since he left home Monday to go hunting. His body was found in a woodland east of the city yesterday by a member of a searching party.

SECOND U. P. SOCIETY LUNCHEONS WEDNESDAY.

Seated at quartet tables, appointed in Christmas colors, members of the Woman's Missionary Society, Second U. P. Church, enjoyed a delightful luncheon in the church dining room, Wednesday at 12 o'clock.

The hostess committee included: Mrs. Guy Hutslar, chairman; Miss Martha Bryson, Mrs. Ella Ferguson, Mrs. R. F. Harper, Mrs. William H. Donges, Mrs. O. E. Bradfute, Mrs. Ben Belden, Mrs. Billmyre, Mrs. James Wagner and Mrs. Jeanette Anderson.

The missionary meeting followed at 1:30 with Miss Margaret Moorehead, presiding. Mrs. Mary J. Bratton, and Mrs. Stewart had charge of the devotions. Roll call was responded to with items concerning Abbysinia and The Sudan.

"The Mohammedan and Christian Debate" written by Dr. Phillips, brother of Mrs. J. P. White, was taken by Mrs. Harvey Collins and Mrs. T. C. Wolford, the latter dressed in Mohammedan costume.

A Christmas playlet "Such As We Can't Use," was effectively presented by Mrs. Graham Bryson, Mrs. John Van Eaton, Mrs. E. S. Foust, Mrs. J. Robert Bryson, Mrs. Charles Bickett, Mrs Harvey Collins, Mrs. James Patterson, Mrs. Earl McClellan, Mrs. Ella Lorimer, Mrs. James Kyle, Mrs. Thomas McClelland and Mrs. McElroy.

The business meeting followed, during which it was decided to send a box of clothing to a mission school in Ezel, Ky. Fifty-six members and seven guests attended.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED AT CLASS PARTY MONDAY

The Standard Bearers of Yellow Springs Methodist Church were entertained at the home of Miss Anna Jacobs, Monday evening, when a miscellaneous "shower" honoring Miss Elizabeth Moorman, Yellow Springs, was held.

Miss Moorman's marriage to Mr. Dan Davitt, Chicago, former student at Antioch College and native of Ireland, will take place in the near future.

Games and contests amused the guests and a wedding march was staged, leading Miss Moorman to the table loaded with gifts.

A green and white color scheme was employed in the decorations. A tempting refreshment course was served by Miss Jacobs to her twenty guests.

BELLBROOK CLASS IS ENTERTAINED WEDNESDAY

The King's Servants Class, M. E. Church of Bellbrook, was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henning, Belmont, Wednesday evening.

During the business session, it was voted to send baskets of fruit and growing plants to the shut-ins in Bellbrook.

Contests and music were enjoyed and refreshments served. For Colds —

How many people you know end their colds with Bayer Aspirin! And how often you've heard of its prompt relief of sore throat or tonsilitis. No wonder millions take it for colds, neuralgia, rheumatism; and the aches and pains that go with them. The wonder is that anyone still worries through a winter without these tablets! They relieve quickly, yet have no effect whatever on the heart. Friends have told you Bayer Aspirin is marvelous; doctors have declared it harmless. Every druggist has it, with proven directions. Why not put it to the test?

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WHO IS HE?—For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.—Isa. 53:2.

WINNING FAME FOR U. S. GOODS

It is often pointed out that the productive facilities of American factories and farms very much exceed the ability of our people to buy the goods that we can produce. Hence the question rises as to how we shall sell our surplus. Foreign trade takes care of some of it, but it might be much extended.

Much will depend on how far American goods have a reputation of keeping up to a high standard of quality. The idea used to prevail that many American products were hastily made, without any high standards of excellence. Some people used to think that when they bought something marked "Made in Germany" or "Made in England," they stood a chance of getting a superior article.

During recent years, our manufacturers have perfected their products, and American goods building a splendid reputation in foreign lands. This makes a big difference. Also we want to reach the point where our own people will believe, when they see "Made in the United States" stamped on merchandise, that this indicates superior quality.

If in the coming years, all our producers, employers and workmen alike, could take pride in turning out faithfully made products conforming to the highest standards of excellence, the result would be a considerable increase our sales abroad.

Local and other Ohio concerns are doing notable work along this line.

PAYING FOR THE GOOD-WILL TRIP

As if to forstall any possible criticism of the Hoover trip to Latin America on the score of expense, figures have been published showing that the battleships Maryland and Utah would do considerable cruising during the year, whether utilized by the president-elect or not, and it is added that the members of his party are paying their own way.

Any attempt to stigmatize the trip as a junket would of course be ridiculous. Mr. Hoover is performing a great public service by visiting so many of his southern neighbors in the interval between his election and inauguration. Although he has never visited South America before, he has been intensely interested in all the nations beyond the Rio Grande, and during his seven and a half years as secretary of commerce did much to improve our relations with them. Now he goes to give these relations the added touch that only a personal visit can provide.

The undertaking will be worth many times its cost, and this fact will be increasingly evident as the itinerary proceeds.

FATE AND ACCIDENTS

Automobile accidents are not entirely a matter of bad luck. On the contrary, some drivers are foredoomed, because of nervous and mental qualities which cannot yet be detected in police tests, to have twice as many accidents as others, according to Dr. V. V. Andrews, psychiatrist.

Accidents do not distribute themeslves impartially over any given number of drivers," Dr. Andrews says. Half of them occur to less than one third of the operators. Some persons are born with the mental and nervous equipment to be good drivers, while others are similarly predisposed to be dangerous drivers—though they may be good enough mentally and physically otherwise.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE CHANGING WORLD

Life has changed more in the past 30 years than in 3000 years preceding. In many ways there is more difference between the manner of life in 1900 and the life today than between the life of 900 A. D. and 1900. We have developed ten mechanical horse power for every member of our population. The Diary of a New Yorker

By WALTER WINCHELL

NEW YORK—There was exciting chatter one week last season when it was discovered that Alexander Woollcott, dramatic critic for the New York World, was severing his association with that newspaper. Few have learned to this date exactly why the prominent and able writer was freed from his job, although some of us were told that Mr. Woolcott, Fed Up With It All After Fourteen Years, decided to holiday for a year along the Riviera. After a brief vacation there, he returned to New York, which aroused the rumor-spreaders.

Later, however, it was reported in the theatrical journals that Woollcott and the World had tiffed over the critic's article in Vanity Fair, in which he blackballed Eugene O'Neill's play, "Strange Interlude," before it opened, reviewing it from the manuscript. When the premiere took place at the John Golden theatre, after the magazine came out, Mr. Woollcott witnessed the proceedings, but the report in the paper the next morning was prepared by another reviewer.

It was subsequently revealed that the World had decided to dispatch an unprejudiced critic to the play, which aroused Woollcott, and he did not re-sign when his contract expired. In fewer words, the newspaper felt that its dramatic critic should not be permitted to cover a production if he revealed a tendency to dislie it or the management before it was shown to the public.

New Plan Evolved

St. John Ervine, famed in London as a brilliant reviewer and playwright, was imported as guest critic for a term of months (four, it is said) to succeed Woollcott and a few days before he began activities the World devoted much space to a symposium contributed by prominent theatrical producers. They were asked what they thought of the paper's plan to run deferred reviewers and their opinions of the new reviewer.

Every manager in town replied with a sugary opinion, lauding the World's idea on deferred reviews (twenty-four hours after the premiere) and chucked in a nosegay for Mr. Ervine.

That is, every manager excepting Philip Goodman, sponsor of the recently lauded "Rainbow" at the Gallo, whose opinion of Mr. Ervine lasted but one edition.

Well, Mr. Ervine, who is probably just as sensitive as you and I, evened the score the other day when his deferred notice appeared in the World. Although he hinted that "Rainbow" had all the elements of a first class entertainment if it received the pruning knife, the critic devoted much space to Mr. Goodman's plump form.

Far be it from this outcast (in most theaters) to side with a manager against a confrere, but being one of the younger theater historians, who seeks counsel, tuition and guidance from so learned and successful a critic as Mr. Ervine, we shudder at this idea of dramatic criticism. The World does, too, for it deleted all of Ervine's personal observations after the first edition, which probably piqued him. Mr. Ervine, you may recall, recently devoted much space to complain about the make-ups on some of our actresses. It always seemed to us that you went to report a play's entertainment value, and not a producer's tummy or a player's lip rouge.

"Women in hotels are the most trouble and most damaging to property," says a chambermaid, who has been at this kind of work for 18 years. "Next in order of damage and trouble are young men. Least troublesome are older men who live alone. They are usually neat and orderly. Young men make much dirt and disorder from their cigars or cigaret ashes. Also, they sometimes burn holes in sheets or table covers, and they use towels to wipe off their shoes. But even at that they do less harm than an average woman.

"More damage is done by rouge on towels than by using towels to wipe off shoes. Then, women have their facial powder or cold cream all over everything. They have many foolish little trinkets and odds and ends of clothing to be picked up, and they complain if one of these seems to be mislaid. Yes, and they are more likely to carry towels away with them than men are."

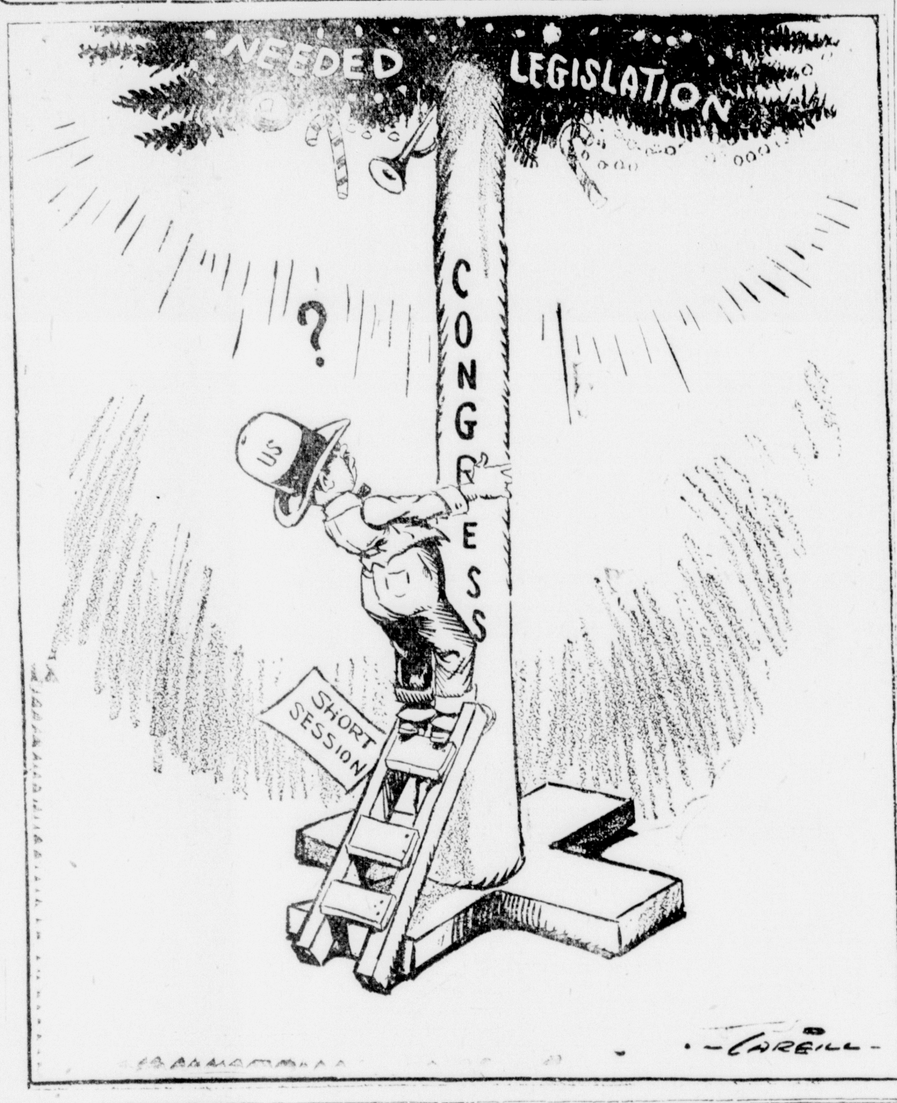
ANOTHER GIFT PROBLEM



Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON. — With a membership of seven in the house of representatives, women will be numerous enough in the next, or Seventy-first congress, to constitute quite a formidable "bloc"—if only they were in political agreement.

In fact, they not only differ as to party — they also represent cross-party differences of opinion.

Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, and Mrs. Ruth Byran Owen of Florida, are Democrats. Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, Mrs. Katherine Langley of Kentucky, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois, and Mrs. Ruth Sears Baker Prat of New York, are Republicans. Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California, was re-elected as a Republican-Democrat.

Mrs. Langley and Mrs. Owen are dryer than the Sahara. Mrs. Kahn has been suggested for the wet leadership in the house of representatives. Mrs. Owen is pro-disarmament. Mrs. Kahn, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Norton always have voted with the big navy-ites. The group is divided every which way.

Politicians surmise that Mrs. McCormick will prove to be the ultra-aggressive member of the septet. Reports from Illinois hint that she plans to wrest the Republican leadership of Illinois from Senator Deneen and supplant him in the upper house of congress.

It will be a great fight if she tries it.

Solon Deneen is pretty sure to think it would be carrying gallantry too far to surrender his toga meekly to a woman, and he has quite a reputation as a scrapper. So, however, has the late Mark Hanna's daughter; likewise a tremendous feminist vote in her hand bag.

For that matter, speaking of daughters—

The daughter of the late William J. Byran is the daughter of one, and Florida accounts are to the effect that she inherits a full measure of her father's political acumen—of which, like him or not, he had a plenty.

True, Mrs. Owen is of the minority party, but that generally was equally the case with the "commoner," her sire, and it never prevented him from being a considerable factor in whatever was stirring.

The drys, in particular, hope for great things from the Florida congresswoman-elect. Mrs. Langley is all they could ask, insofar as her vote goes, but they believe Mrs. Owen will prove to be a harder slugger among the feminine contingent.

The wets, on the other hand, are banking on Mrs. Pratt as a valuable standby, alongside Mrs. Kahn.

They greatly appreciate women in the moist group. Their theory is that women are the backbone of prohibition, and that every one they can point to, in a key position, weakens it by a vertebra.

Judging from the campaign she put up, they feel confident that the Seventeenth New York district representative-elect will help their cause immensely.

Mrs. Kahn is an exceedingly effective worker, in the hurly-burly on the floor of the representatives' chamber, and has even presided there several times, with great success, as a substitute for Speaker Longworth.

Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Owen and Mrs. Prat, all likewise known as able debaters, presumably will be similarly prominent in active proceedings.

Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Langley have been more generally identified with committee service, in connection especially with labor, civil service, veterans' and pension legislation.

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

One of the most frequent criticisms one hears of Americans in the continental capitals is that they do not know how to play. And never yet have I heard this comment without wishing that the critical observer could step into any one of the thousands of American cities, towns or hamlets at the Christmas season. Of all the countries in the world, there is none that has the joyous gift of making such a mad, merry and beautiful carnival of the Yuletide season.

Just think how the season has flown! Only a few short weeks ago the wild asters were blooming on the hillside. Now, you have only to listen very hard, and you'll hear the silver tinkle of the sleighbells in the distance! It does make you think, doesn't it? Gifts and gifts and gifts! That's the current order of the day now! So let's think hard, and perhaps in the suggestions I offer this week your entire gift problem can be solved.

Beginning with the obvious, we have compacts and lipsticks and vanity sets—delightful remembrances for the schoolgirl and the young matrons, the sister or cousin or dearest friend. At a Christmas party I gave last year, vanities in gold and red and green adorned my Christmas tree. And weren't they acclaimed!

A lipstick tucked into the finger of a new glove is an enchanting surprise!

And a combination set of vanity and matching lipstick, particularly in the smart jet or silver, is lovely for the formal presentation. "Cosmetic jewelry" can fill at least a good percentage of all your feminine gift needs — and most inexpensively — quite a solution. I well appreciate. Start checking off the list right now!

Waldorf Salad Rolls
Prune Whip Tea

Simple but nourishing meals are needed during the hectic days before Christmas to give one strength for the shopping and planning for the holiday season. This day's menu was planned for two.

Today's Recipes

Noodle Mold with Mushrooms and Peas—Boil noodles until tender. Drain and put in mold. Beat three or four eggs and pour over noodles. Bake until brown on top. Remove from mold and slice. Serve with mushrooms and peas.

Steak in Casserole—One and one-half pounds steak sliced about three-fourths of an inch thick. Cut in squares about six inches square and stuff with the following: One slice bacon for each square steak, little bit of onion and green pepper chopped, also one teaspoon pimento and pinch of salt and pepper. Roll and pin with toothpick, place in casserole and add water to the bottom and sprinkle cracker crumbs on top of steak. Bake in moderate oven until tender.

Prune Whip—Cut one-half pound stewed prunes in small pieces. Chop walnuts and dates finely, and add to prunes. Whip together with one gill whipping cream and serve with either whipped cream on top or lemon sauce.

Celery Stuffing

Mix together three cups stale bread crumbs, one-half cup butter, pepper and salt, two teaspoons celery salt, and two cups chopped celery. Pour one cup hot milk over all and let stand 20 minutes. Drain off all milk. Fill capity in fowl with mixture, sew up and roast as usual.

SCARED WHITE

It seems there were two Irishmen. There have to be two or it's no joke.

It was Mike's first day aloft catching rivets on the new skyscraper building, and he was scared to death. Pat, also an Irishman and an old hand at the job, said to him, "Begorra, you're green at this pob."

"Green, nothin'," answered Mike. "I'm pale white!"

WON'T FORGET HIM

Leaving a fashionable hotel a wealthy but niggardly man was surrounded by servants all expecting tips. Getting past this batch he stepped into a waiting car, the door of which was held by the house-porter who thrust out his palm.

"You're not going to [illegible] me, sir?" he inquired anxiously.

The departing guest grasped the outstretched hand and shook it. "No," he said in a voice charged with emotion, "I'll write to you."

PERIODICAL EXAMINATION WISEST OF HEALTH RULES

Boils

"What do you prescribe for boils? Shouldn't a physical examination be given before treatment of these is undertaken?

A."

A thorough physical examination at least once a year—or oftener, if there are any symptoms—is one of the wisest health rules, for then any disease which is just beginning may be aborted, or its course lessened. However, the local treatment of boils should be begun the moment they make an appearance, because sometimes it is possible to abort them.

The technical name for a boil is furuncle. If there is a crop of boils the condition is known as furunculosis. The physical examination should include a blood and urine extmination for sugar. Sometimes there will be a pre-diabetic stage in which the blood sugar is higher than normal, even while it does not appear in the urine. Boils and other skin eruptions are very frequent in those who have a high blood sugar. (These persons are usually excess eaters of starches and sugars.)

I'll give you a few methods of treating boils. Others you will find in our article on the subject. (See directions for obtaining it.)

Local Treatment

1. When the boil is first noticed, painting with equal parts (by weight) of gum camphor and carbolic acid, once or twice a day, may be effective in making it disappear without going on to suppuration. Lacking this remedy, try iodin or mercurochrome or ichthyol.

2. Hot compresses, frequently applied—make them of absorbent cotton or gauze dipped in hot boracic acid solution—one tablespoonful of the powder or crystals dissolved in a pint of water. Do not use poultices of any kind.

After Treatment

1. After the boil is healed bathe the parts morning and night with the boracic acid solution. It is also wise to rub the boracic acid solution all over the body.

PRECAUTION: Do not squeeze a boil until it is thoroughly "ripe," and then, gently, for squeezing it injures the tissues and makes the boil worse. Never squeeze a boil on the upper lip, on account of the possibility of the infection's gaining entrance to the nose lymphatic and brood vessels and to the nose lymphatics and blood vessels and to the brain.

M.—Your questions could be answered only by a surgeon who had charge of your brother's case.

No, the electric treatment that was given the leg would not have caused the bone to crumble; it is possible that tuberculosis settled in the original injury, as this does happen, especially in bones. The ulra-violet ray and the sunlight treatments are given for bone tuberculosis with great success.

M. wants to know how often a person should rinse his mouth with antiseptic solutions to be assured of one's breath.

Rinsing the mouth to be sure of one's breath, M—I realize you mean to be assured there isn't halitosis—is a futile gesture like putting on perfume to cover an odor. The thing to do is to find out the cause of the bad teeth or tonsils or catarrh—especially with infected sinuses—indigestion, etc.

We have articles on Balanced Diet, and Colds, Catarrh, etc. which you may have.

Living and Loving

WHAT A TANGLED WEB WE WEAVE WHEN WE PRACTICE TO DECEIVE

"Oh, what a tangle we weave, when first we practice to deceive." And the worst of it is, although we weave it easily, we seldom can untangle it, and it catches many innocent victims in its meshes. One of these victims of deceit writes me as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I am asking your advice on a matter of great importance. I married nearly nine years ago, after a year and a half's acquaintance. My husband told me his first wife was dead, and there were three children. The youngest at the time I married was 15. When we were married two years the next son came to live with us, and stayed nearly a year. Then two years later the daughter came on a visit. The children treated me very nice. My husband passed away nearly three months ago, very suddenly, and I just received a letter from the first wife's sister telling me that her sister is still living and I am not his wife. This sister has known all along of our marriage and never said anything until my husband died. The three children never told me that their mother was living. Now I do not know what to do. We were paying for a home and I helped in every way I could and the youngest son wants half of the money when I dispose of the equity. He has always lived with us and I have taken care of him. The small insurance I collected will be all I have, and out of that I paid all funeral expenses and all debts, so I have no income at all. I must go to work at something. The son does not know I received the letter I speak of, and I do not know if I should tell him now or wait until I sell the place. Will look anxiously for an answer.

"MRS. W."

I am writing you a personal letter, Mrs. W., to give you some advice I could not very well print in the column. I think you should consult a reliable lawyer at once, and not tell anyone anything about the matter until you hear what he says. If things are as this woman says, how can she explain her silence for nine years? It looks like a scheme to frighten you into giving up whatever money or property your husband left. They probably do not realize how little that was.

"Dear Lonely Though Married: May I tell you a little story about a relative of mine whose experience was somewhat similar to yours? She married at 2[illegible] and for ten years the husband (a physician) refused to allow a child to enter the family. At the end of that time she quietly packed up and left him. After six months she came back on her own terms, and they now have three beautiful children, and a more devoted father doesn't exist. He thinks fatherhood is the sum total of human happiness. You know, 'Lonely,' a man's own child is different to all other children the world. Don't take the man too seriously, and don't worry about his reactions. When a baby shows up he'll be tickled to death. EXPERIENCE."

Peter's Adventure

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

It Happened in Dreamland

Dove drew a deep sigh and went on with his story.

"My ancestors never learned to protect themselves. Year after year they flew to the Great Woods and year after year the Two-Legs killed them by the thousand.

"Those who were left ate so much that they grew fat and tempted other Humans to shoot them with bangstick and take them home to eat.

"Now there are no Passengers to fly. Never again will they roost by the River that is Green. All that I told you, boy, happened years and years ago. My people have gone to the Happy Hunting Grounds, from where no bird has ever come back."

By this time Peter was very wide awake indeed. Now he jumped to his feet and ran and stood beneath the apple tree on which Dove was perched.

"If I did not know you to be a bird of your word, Dove, I should never believe what you are telling me—never in all this world. Why, it doesn't seem possible that I didn't have all those adventures.

"I can shut my eyes and see everything just as plainly as can be—the cruel hawk as he swooped down upon us and almost clutched me in his talons, the gathering of the pigeons in the Great Woods, the great pot boiling above the roaring flames, the Two-Legs singing and dancing in the firelight!

"Oh, dear! I almost wish it all had happened, except, of course, I am glad that you were not really frightened nor sad, dear Dove, as I thought I saw you.

"So I was right in this old clover meadow all the time and you never once moved from that tree!

"But it seems to me that I remember your saying something about taking me to visit Mrs. Turtle-Dove. Of course I can't meet her now. You only meant for me to see her in my dream and I woke up before I got there."

Dove chuckled in great glee.

"Well that is one thing less for you to feel badly about, Boy, for Cousin Turtle-Dove lives right at the farthest end of this very field.

"If you really care to make her acquaintance, cross the field and when you come to the fence follow it as far as you can go. Where it meets another fence at the border you will find the rabbit burrow in which Mrs. Turtle-Dove lives."

"SO I WAS RIGHT IN THIS OLD CLOVER MEADOW ALL THE TIME"

Next—"Nobody Home In the Burrow."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WHO IS HE?—For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.—Isa. 53:2.

WINNING FAME FOR U. S. GOODS

It is often pointed out that the productive facilities of American factories and farms very much exceed the ability of our people to buy the goods that we can produce. Hence the question rises as to how we shall sell our surplus. Foreign trade takes care of some of it, but it might be much extended.

Much will depend on how far American goods have a reputation of keeping up to a high standard of quality. The idea used to prevail that many American products were hastily made, without any high standards of excellence. Some people used to think that when they bought something marked "Made in Germany" or "Made in England," they stood a chance of getting a superior article.

During recent years, our manufacturers have perfected their products, and American goods building a splendid reputation in foreign lands. This makes a big difference. Also we want to reach the point where our own people will believe, when they see "Made in the United States" stamped on merchandise, that this indicates superior quality.

If in the coming years, all our producers, employers and workmen alike, could take pride in turning out faithfully made products conforming to the highest standards of excellence, the result would be a considerable increase our sales abroad.

Local and other Ohio concerns are doing notable work along this line.

PAYING FOR THE GOOD-WILL TRIP

As if to forstall any possible criticism of the Hoover trip to Latin America on the score of expense, figures have been published showing that the battleships Maryland and Utah would do considerable cruising during the year, whether utilized by the president-elect or not, and it is added that the members of his party are paying their own way.

Any attempt to stigmatize the trip as a junket would of course be ridiculous. Mr. Hoover is performing a great public service by visiting so many of his southern neighbors in the interval between his election and inauguration. Although he has never visited South America before, he has been intensely interested in all the nations beyond the Rio Grande, and during his seven and a half years as secretary of commerce did much to improve our relations with them. Now he goes to give these relations the added touch that only a personal visit can provide.

The undertaking will be worth many times its cost, and this fact will be increasingly evident as the itinerary proceeds.

FATE AND ACCIDENTS

Automobile accidents are not entirely a matter of bad luck. On the contrary, some drivers are foredoomed, because of nervous and mental qualities which cannot yet be detected in police tests, to have twice as many accidents as others, according to Dr. V. V. Andrews, psychiatrist.

Accidents do not distribute themeslves impartially over any given number of drivers," Dr. Andrews says. Half of them occur to less than one third of the operators. Some persons are born with the mental and nervous equipment to be good drivers, while others are similarly predisposed to be dangerous drivers—though they may be good enough mentally and physically otherwise.

In fact, they not only differ as to party — they also represent cross-party differences of opinion.

Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, and Mrs. Ruth Byran Owen of Florida, are Democrats. Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, Mrs. Katherine Langley of Kentucky, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois, and Mrs. Ruth Sears Baker Prat of New York, are Republicans. Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California, was re-elected as a Republican-Democrat.

Mrs. Langley and Mrs. Owen are dryer than the Sahara. Mrs. Kahn has been suggested for the wet leadership in the house of representatives. Mrs. Owen is pro-disarmament. Mrs. Kahn, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Norton always have voted with the big navy-ites. The group is divided every which way.

Politicians surmise that Mrs. McCormick will prove to be the ultra-aggressive member of the septet. Reports from Illinois hint that she plans to wrest the Republican leadership of Illinois from Senator Deneen and supplant him in the upper house of congress.

It will be a great fight if she tries it.

Solon Deneen is pretty sure to think it would be carrying gallantry too far to surrender his toga meekly to a woman, and he has quite a reputation as a scrapper. So, however, has the late Mark Hanna's daughter; likewise a tremendous feminist vote in her hand bag.

For that matter, speaking of daughters—

The daughter of the late William J. Byran is the daughter of one, and Florida accounts are to the effect that she inherits a full measure of her father's political acumen—of which, like him or not, he had a plenty.

True, Mrs. Owen is of the minority party, but that generally was equally the case with the "commoner," her sire, and it never prevented him from being a considerable factor in whatever was stirring.

The drys in particular, hope for great things from the Florida congresswoman-elect. Mrs. Langley is all they could ask, insofar as her vote goes, but they believe Mrs. Owen will prove to be a harder slugger among the feminine contingent.

The wets on the other hand, are banking on Mrs. Pratt as a valuable standby, alongside Mrs. Kahn.

They greatly appreciate women in the moist group. Their theory is that women are the backbone of prohibition, and that every one they can point to, in a key position, weakens it by a vertebra.

Judging from the campaign she put up, they feel confident that the Seventeenth New York district representative-elect will help their cause immensely.

Mrs. Kahn is an exceedingly effective worker, in the hurly-burly on the floor of the representatives' chamber, and has even presided there several times, with great success, as a substitute for Speaker Longworth.

Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Owen and Mrs. Prat, all likewise known as able debaters, presumably will be similarly prominent in active proceedings.

Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Langley have been more generally identified with committee service, in connection especially with labor, civil service, veterans' and pension legislation.

How to Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

One of the most frequent criticisms one hears of Americans in the continental capitals is that they do not know how to play. And never yet have I heard this comment without wishing that the critical observer could step into any one of the thousands of American cities, towns or hamlets at the Christmas season. Of all the countries in the world, there is none that has the joyous gift of making such a mad, merry and beautiful carnival of the Yuletide season.

Just think how the season has flown! Only a few short weeks ago the wild asters were blooming on the hillside. Now, you have only to listen very hard, and you'll hear the silver tinkle of the sleighbells in the distance! It does make you think, doesn't it? Gifts and gifts and gifts! That's the current order of the day now! So let's think hard, and perhaps in the suggestions I offer this week your entire gift problem can be solved.

Beginning with the obvious, we have compacts and lipsticks and vanity sets—delightful remembrances for the schoolgirl and the young matrons, the sister or cousin or dearest friend. At a Christmas party I gave last year, vanities in gold and red and green adorned my Christmas tree. And weren't they acclaimed!

A lipstick tucked into the finger of a new glove is an enchanting surprise!

And a combination set of vanity and matching lipstick, particularly in the smart jet or silver, is lovely for the formal presentation. "Cosmetic jewelry" can fill at least a good percentage of all your feminine gift needs — and most inexpensively — quite a solution. I well appreciate. Start checking off the list right now!

Simple but nourishing meals are needed during the hectic days before Christmas to give one strength for the shopping and planning for the holiday season. This day's menu was planned for two.

Today's Recipes

Noodle Mold with Mushrooms and Peas—Boil noodles until tender. Drain and put in mold. Beat three or four eggs and pour over noodles. Bake until brown on top. Remove from mold and slice. Serve with mushrooms and peas.

Steak in Casserole—One and one-half pounds steak sliced about three-fourths of an inch thick. Cut in squares about six inches square and stuff with the following: One slice bacon for each square steak, little bit of onion and green pepper chopped, also one teaspoon pimento and pinch of salt and pepper. Roll and pin with toothpick, place in casserole and add water to the bottom and sprinkle cracker crumbs on top of steak. Bake in moderate oven until tender.

Prune Whip—Cut one-half pound stewed prunes in small pieces. Chop walnuts and dates finely, and add to prunes. Whip together with one gill whipping cream and serve with either whipped cream on top or lemon sauce.

Celery Stuffing

Mix together three cups stale bread crumbs, one-half cup butter, pepper and salt, two teaspoons celery salt, and two cups chopped celery. Pour one cup hot milk over all and let stand 20 minutes. Drain off all milk. Fill capity in fowl with mixture, sew up and roast as usual.

SCARED WHITE

It seems there were two Irishmen. There have to be two or it's no joke.

It was Mike's first day aloft catching rivets on the new skyscraper building, and he was scared to death. Pat, also an Irishman and an old hand at the job, said to him, "Begorra, you're green at this job."

"Green, nothin'," answered Mike. "I'm pale white!"

WON'T FORGET HIM

Leaving a fashionable hotel a wealthy but niggardly man was surrounded by servants all expecting tips. Getting past this batch he stepped into a waiting car, the door of which was held by the house-porter who thrust out his palm.

"You're not going to forget me, sir?" he inquired anxiously.

The departing guest grasped the outstretched hand and shook it. "No," he said in a voice charged with emotion, "I'll write to you."

PERIODICAL EXAMINATION WISEST OF HEALTH RULES

Boils

"What do you precsribe for boils? Shouldn't a physical examination be given before treatment of these is undertaken?

A thorough physical examination at least once a year—or oftener, if there are any symptoms—is one of the wisest health rules, for then any disease which is just beginning may be aborted, or its course lessened. However, the local treatment of boils should be begun the moment they make an appearance, because sometimes it is possible to abort them.

The technical name for a boil is furuncle. If there is a crop of boils the condition is known as furunculosis. The physical examination should include a blood and urine extmination for sugar. Sometimes there will be a pre-diabetic stage in which the blood sugar is higher than normal, even while it does not appear in the urine. Boils and other skin eruptions are very frequent in those who have a high blood sugar. (These persons are usually excess eaters of starches and sugars.)

I'll give you a few methods of treating boils. Others you will find in our article on the subject. (See directions for obtaining it.)

Local Treatment

1. When the boil is first noticed, painting with equal parts (by weight) of gum camphor and carbolic acid, once or twice a day, may be effective in making it disappear without going on to suppuration. Lacking this remedy, try iodin or mercurochrome or ichthyol.

2. Hot compresses, frequently applied—make them of absorbent cotton or gauze dipped in hot boracic acid solution—one tablespoonful of the powder or crystals dissolved in a pint of water. Do not use poultices of any kind.

After Treatment

1. After the boil is healed bathe the parts morning and night with the boracic acid solution. It is also wise to rub the boracic acid solution all over the body.

PRECAUTION: Do not squeeze a boil until it is thoroughly "ripe," and then, gently for squeezing it injures the tissues and makes the boil worse. Never squeeze a boil on the upper lip, on account of the possibility of the infection's gaining entrance to the nose lymphatics and brood vessels and to the nose lymphatics and blood vessels and to the brain.

M.—Your questions could be answered only by a surgeon who had charge of your brother's case.

No, the electric treatment that was given the leg would not have caused the bone to crumble. It is possible that tuberculosis settled in the original injury, and this does happen, especially in bones. The ulra-violet ray and the sunlight treatments are given for bone tuberculosis with great success.

M. wants to know how often a person should rinse his mouth with antiseptic solutions to be assured of one's breath.

Rinsing the mouth to be sure of one's breath, M—I realize you mean to be assured there isn't halitosis—is a futile gesture like putting on perfume to cover an odor. The thing to do is to find out the cause of the bad teeth or tonsils or catarrh—especially with infected sinuses—indigestion, etc.

We have articles on Balanced Diet, and Colds, Catarrh, etc., which you may have.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

WHAT A TANGLED WEB WE WEAVE WHEN WE PRACTICE TO DECEIVE

"Oh, what a tangle we weave, when first we practice to deceive." And the worst of it is, although we weave it easily, we seldom can untangle it, and it catches many innocent victims in its meshes. One of these victims of deceit writes me as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I am asking your advice on a matter of great importance. I married nearly nine years ago, after a year and a half's acquaintance. My husband told me his first wife was dead, and there were three children. The youngest at the time I married was 15. When we were married two years the next son came to live with us, and stayed nearly a year. Then two years later the daughter came on a visit. The children treated me very nice. My husband passed away nearly three months ago, very suddenly, and I just received a letter from the first wife's sister telling me that her sister is still living and I am not his wife. This sister has known all along of our marriage and never said anything until my husband died. The three children never told me that their mother was living. Now I do not know what to do. We were paying for a home and I helped in every way I could and the youngest son wants half of the money when I dispose of the equity. He has always lived with us and I have taken care of him. The small insurance I collected will be all I have, and out of that I paid all funeral expenses and all debts, so I have no income at all. I must go to work at something. The son does not know I received the letter I speak of, and I do not know if I should tell him now or wait until I sell the place. Will look anxiously for an answer.

"MRS. W."

I am writing you a personal letter, Mrs. W., to give you some advice I could not very well print in the column. I think you should consult a reliable lawyer at once, and not tell anyone anything about the matter until you hear what he says. If things are as this woman says, how can she explain her silence for nine years? It looks like a scheme to frighten you into giving up whatever money or property your husband left. They probably do not realize how little that was.

"Dear Lonely Though Married: May I tell you a little story about a relative of mine whose experience was somewhat similar to yours? She married at 2[illegible] and for ten years the husband (a physician) refused to allow a child to enter the family. At the end of that time she quietly packed up and left him. After six months she came back on her own terms, and they now have three beautiful children, and a more devoted father doesn't exist. He thinks fatherhood is the sum total of human happiness. You know, 'Lonely,' a man's own child is different to all other children the world. Don't take the man too seriously, and don't worry about his reactions. When a baby shows up he'll be tickled to death. EXPERIENCE."

Peter's Adventure

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

It Happened in Dreamland

Dove drew a deep sigh and set on with his story.

"My ancestors never learned to protect themselves. Year after year they flew to the Great Woods and year after year the Two-Legs killed them by the thousand.

"Those who were left ate so much that they grew fat and tempted other Humans to shoot them with bangstick and take them home to eat.

"Now there are no Passengers to fly. Never again will they roost by the River that is Green. All that I told you, boy, happened years and years ago. My people have gone to the Happy Hunting Grounds, from whence no bird has ever come back."

By this time Peter was very wide awake indeed. Now he jumped to his feet and ran and stood beneath the apple tree on which Dove was perched.

"If I did not know you to be a bird of your word, Dove, I should never believe what you are telling me—never in all this world. Why, it doesn't seem possible that I didn't have all those adventures.

"I can shut my eyes and see everything just as plainly as can be—the cruel hawk as he swooped down upon us and almost clutched me in his talons, the gathering of the pigeons in the Great Woods, the great pot boiling above the roaring flames, the Two-Legs singing and dancing in the firelight!

"Oh, dear! I almost wish it all had happened, except, of course, I am glad that you were not really frightened nor sad, dear Dove, as I thought I saw you.

"So I was right in this old clover meadow all the time and you never once moved from that tree!

"But it seems to me that I remember your saying something about taking me to visit Mrs. Turtle-Dove. Of course I can't meet her now. You only meant for me to see her in my dream and I woke up before I got there."

Dove chuckled in great glee.

"Well that is one thing less for you to feel badly about, Boy, for Cousin Turtle-Dove lives right at the farthest end of this very field.

"If you really care to make her acquaintance, cross the field and when you come to the fence follow it as far as you can go. Where it meets another fence at the border you will find the rabbit burrow in which Mrs. Turtle-Dove lives."

Next—"Nobody Home in the Burrow."

PUNTS AND PASSES

Six schools composing the Miami Valley High School League are to be prohibited from employing local officials in any league contests hereafter, as a result of action taken at league meeting at Troy Tuesday night.

Few of the schools have been using local officials in the past, but league representatives thought it best to draft a rule covering the matter to avoid the possibility of a controversy of any ill-feeling arising in the future.

Decision to award both Piqua and Sidney High Schools football trophies because they tied for the 1928 league football championship was reached by league officials Tuesday only after considerable debate on the subject.

The trophies are to be silver footballs appropriately engraved indicating the teams tied for the league title.

Present rules of the league provide for the awarding of a silver football to the winning eleven but contain no provisions for the procedure to be followed in case a tie exists. It was finally decided that in fairness to both teams, each should receive a trophy.

The Meanwell-Wilson ball has been officially adopted by the Miami Valley High School League for basketball play in the league. This is the ball used in the Ohio State tournament.

League representatives, after adopting the cage schedule for the 1929-30 season at the regular winter confab Tuesday, discussed to some length the question of officials but no definite decision was reached either as to the number or pay of the arbiters.

Eldon "Dan" Earley, Jamestown youth, is captain of the 1928-29 University of Cincinnati basketball team, which will be a strong contender for the Buckeye Association title this season. Earley, now a senior, is rated as one of the best guards in Ohio basketball circles. He was picked by many experts for mythical all-association teams last season and under his leadership the Bearcats will be hard to beat this year. He acquired his court experience at Jamestown High School and also plays plenty of shortstop for Cincinnati during the baseball season.

Only three out of a list of eighty-one of the most important college football teams in the entire country escaped defeat or tie during the football season just closed. These are Florida, Boston College and Georgia Tech.

Three other teams—Tennessee, Southern California and Villanova—were undefeated but each had a tie game to mar its otherwise spotless record.

Figured on a basis of games won, lost and tied, and points scored by and against each team, Florida emerged with the highest average percentage.

Florida won eight games and lost none and tied none for a percentage of 1.000. The Southern school scored 324 points against twenty-five for opponents, a percentage of .928. Its average percentage is .964.

TRAIN NO BAR

A little thing like a collision with a train is no drawback to Drs. N. T. Pavey, Springfield dentist, former Xenian, and Dr. A. B. Kester, Xenia dentist, when they are enroute to a professional convention.

Dr. Pavey's auto collided with a Big Four Freight train early Wednesday morning near Bellefontaine, O. He sustained a bruised thumb. He took his car to Bellefontaine where it was found to be damaged to the extent of $500.

Despite the fact the body of the machine was badly dented and it was minus fenders, the car was in condition to be driven, so the two dentists continued on to Toledo, O., for the state dental association meeting.

FESS RECOMMENDS THREE FOR JUDGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, recommended to President Coolidge today appointment of George P. Hahn, Toledo, as judge of the district court of northern Ohio; Samuel H. West, Cleveland as judge of the district court of western Ohio and District Judge Smith W. Hickenlooper, Cincinnati, as judge of the circuit court of appeals, sixth district.

THIRTEEN TO GET GRID LETTERS

Superstitions have no place in the life of Coach Walter L. "Pinky" Wilson, Xenia Central High School mentor, who announced Wednesday that thirteen members of the 1928 Buccaneer football squad will be awarded letters soon.

To substantiate this statement Xenia's 1928-29 basketball squad will play a schedule calling for thirteen games.

No date has been set for bestowing the insignias but school authorities say the ceremony will probably take place at special auditorium exercises soon.

Letters are to be awarded ten seniors, two juniors and one sophomore, in addition to the senior manager.

Awards will be made to the following members of the squad: Dick Snyder, Robert Buell, Bob Adair, John Gibney, Herman Scott, Ralph Scurry, James Beals, Don Cook, Paul Weaver and William Jones, seniors; Joe Smittle and W. B. McCallister, juniors, and Birch Bell, sophomore. Forest Grandin, senior manager, will also receive a letter.

Bowling

Play was close in the weekly bowling match in the Business Men's League Wednesday night. The team composed of Kepler, Long, Owens, Gable, Fuller and Sayre won the match with a three-game total of 2,606 thirty-one pins game total of 2,606, thirty-one pins runnerup. A third team trailed the second-placers by only twenty-eight pins. Box score:

PUNTS AND PASSES

By PHIL FRAME

Six schools composing the Miami Valley High School League are to be prohibited from employing local officials in any league contests hereafter, as a result of action taken at league meeting at Troy Tuesday night.

Few of the schools have been using local officials in the past, but league representatives thought it best to draft a rule covering the matter to avoid the possibility of a controversy of any ill-feeling arising in the future.

Decision to award both Piqua and Sidney High Schools football trophies because they tied for the 1928 league football championship was reached by league officials Tuesday only after considerable debate on the subject.

The trophies are to be silver footballs appropriately engraved indicating the teams tied for the league title.

Present rules of the league provide for the awarding of a silver football to the winning eleven but contain no provisions for the procedure to be followed in case a tie exists. It was finally decided that in fairness to both teams, each should receive a trophy.

The Meanwell-Wilson ball has been officially adopted by the Miami Valley High School League for basketball play in the league. This is the ball used in the Ohio State tournament.

League representatives, after adopting the cage schedule for the 1929-30 season at the regular winter confab Tuesday, discussed to some length the question of officials but no definite decision was reached either as to the number or pay of the arbiters.

Eldon "Dan" Earley, Jamestown youth, is captain of the 1928-29 University of Cincinnati basketball team, which will be a strong contender for the Buckeye Association title this season. Earley, now a senior, is rated as one of the best guards in Ohio basketball circles. He was picked by many experts for mythical all-association teams last season and under his leadership the Bearcats will be hard to beat this year. He acquired his court experience at Jamestown High School and also plays plenty of shortstop for Cincinnati during the baseball season.

Only three out of a list of eighty-one of the most important college football teams in the entire country escaped defeat or tie during the football season just closed. These are Florida, Boston College and Georgia Tech.

Three other teams—Tennessee, Southern California and Villanova—were undefeated but each had a tie game to mar its otherwise spotless record.

Figured on a basis of games won, lost and tied, and points scored by and against each team, Florida emerged with the highest average percentage.

Florida won eight games and lost none and tied none for a percentage of 1.000. The Southern school scored 324 points against twenty-five for opponents, a percentage of .928. Its average percentage is .964.

WOMAN IS SUICIDE

WILLARD, Dec. 6.—Mrs. Ada Talbert, 44, was dead here today from poison which police said was self-administered. She had been despondent, friends say.

TRAIN NO BAR

A little thing like a collision with a train is no drawback to Drs. N. T. Pavey, Springfield dentist, former Xenian, and Dr. A. B. Kester, Xenia dentist, when they are enroute to a professional convention.

Dr. Pavey's auto collided with a Big Four Freight train early Wednesday morning near Bellefontaine, O. He sustained a bruised thumb. He took his car to Bellefontaine where it was found to be damaged to the extent of $500.

Despite the fact the body of the machine was badly dented and it was minus fenders, the car was in condition to be driven, so the two dentists continued on to Toledo, O., for the state dental association meeting.

FESS RECOMMENDS THREE FOR JUDGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, recommended to President Coolidge today appointment of George P. Hahn, Toledo, as judge of the district court of northern Ohio; Samuel H. West, Cleveland as judge of the district court of western Ohio and District Judge Smith W. Hickenlooper, Cincinnati, as judge of the circuit court of appeals, sixth district.

THIRTEEN TO GET GRID LETTERS

Superstitions have no place in the life of Coach Walter L. "Pinky" Wilson, Xenia Central High School mentor, who announced Wednesday that thirteen members of the 1928 Buccaneer football squad will be awarded letters soon.

To substantiate this statement Xenia's 1928-29 basketball squad will play a schedule calling for thirteen games.

No date has been set for bestowing the insignias but school authorities say the ceremony will probably take place at special auditorium exercises soon.

Letters are to be awarded ten seniors, two juniors and one sophomore, in addition to the senior manager.

Awards will be made to the following members of the squad: Dick Snyder, Robert Buell, Bob Adair, John Gibney, Herman Scott, Ralph Scurry, James Beals, Don Cook, Paul Weaver and William Jones, seniors; Joe Smittle and W. B. McCallister, juniors, and Birch Bell, sophomore. Forest Grandin, senior manager, will also receive a letter.

Bowling

Play was close in the weekly bowling match in the Business Men's League Wednesday night. The team composed of Kepler, Long, Owens, Gable, Fuller and Sayre won the match with a three-game total of 2,606 thirty-one pins game total of 2,606, thirty-one pins runnerup. A third team trailed the second-placers by only twenty-eight pins. Box score:

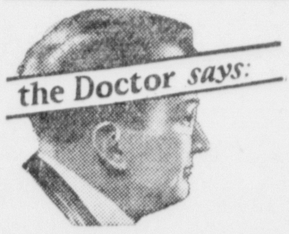
Keep the Christmas Spirit glowing through the years



the Doctor says:

guard against Coughs!

THE moment you feel any disagreeable sensation in your throat you should take a dose of PERTUSSIN to prevent coughs.

Very often irritation in the throat is caused by dust or habitual smoking. PERTUSSIN helps to clear the air passages and soothes the irritation.

It is entirely free from "dope", pleasant to take and has been prescribed by physicians for more than twenty years.

If PERTUSSIN does not relieve you quickly, you should consult your doctor.

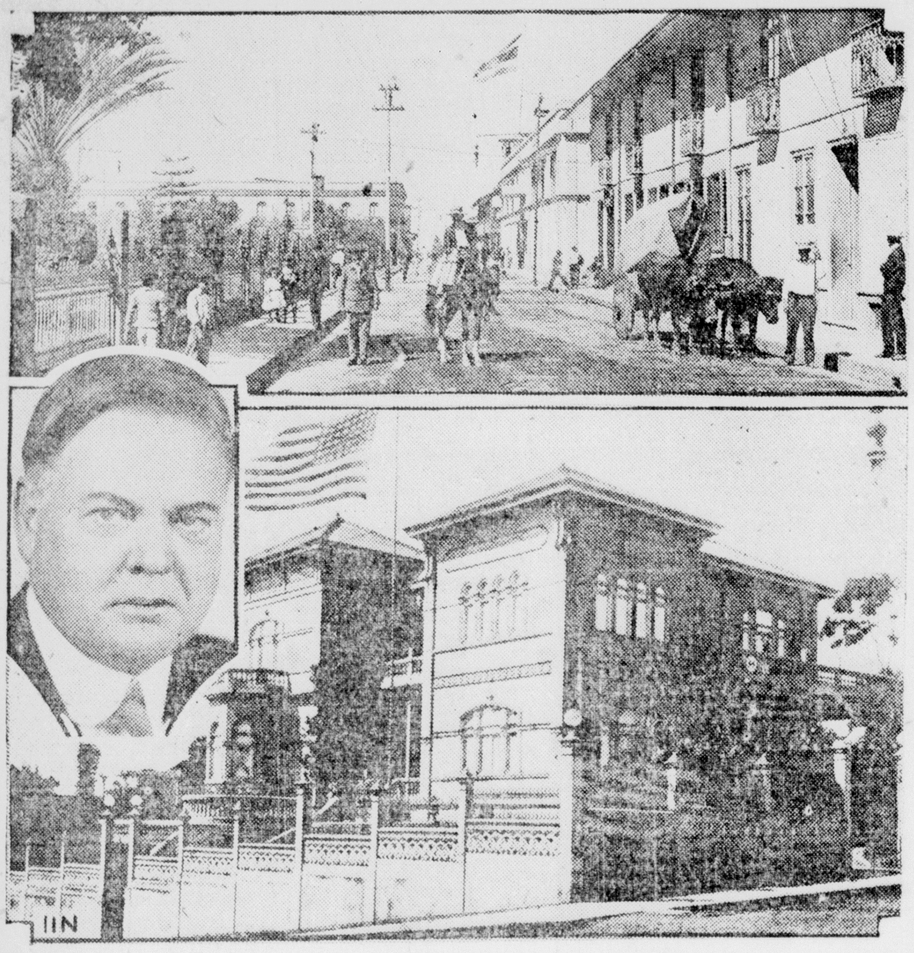
Central America Hails Goodwill Tour



All the sleepy little Central American countries are waking to find themselves entertaining President-elect Herbert Hoover, inset, at least those who are on his itinerary. KELLOGG-BRIAND PACT TO OCCUPY SENATE ATTENTION

Attention of the upper house of congress, as the nation's legislative bodies open the short session of the seventieth congress, is focused principally upon the Kellogg-Briand agreement to outlaw war, one of President Coolidge's pet projects, and one which he desires ratified before the close of the session. Photos above show, President Coolidge, left; Vice President Dawes, center, who presides over the senate, and Secretary of State Kellogg. Below, left, Speaker Nicholas Longworth, of the lower house, in a characteristic pose, and, right, a view of the opening session of the seventieth congress with Clerk William Tyler Page calling the roll in the house of representatives.

Their Betrothal Now Official

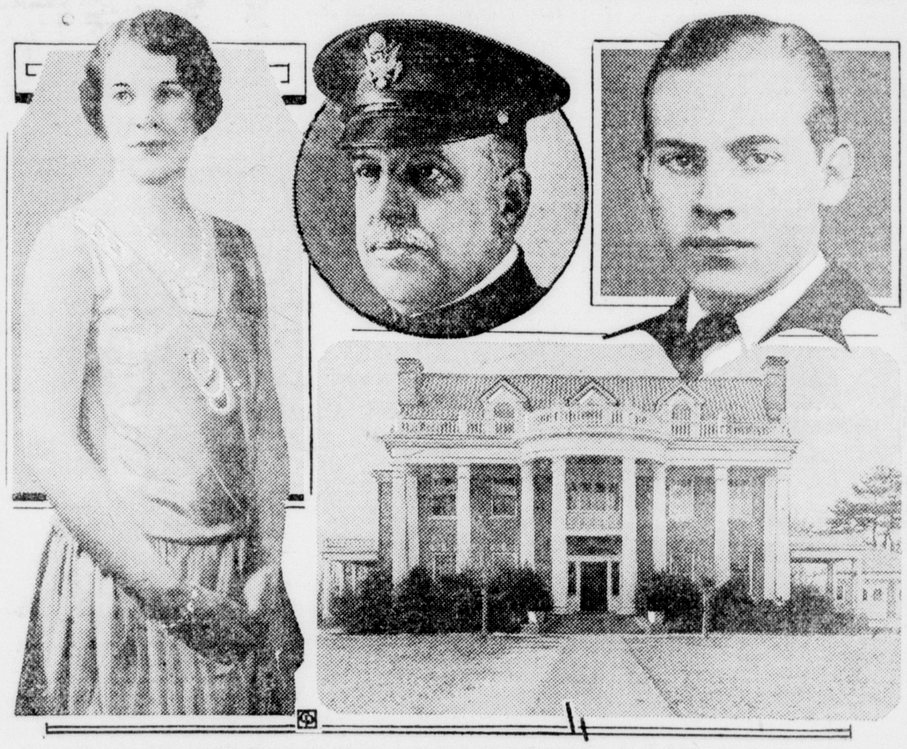
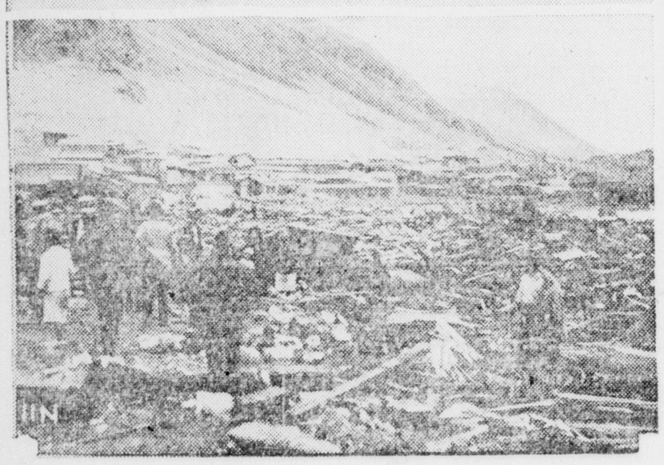
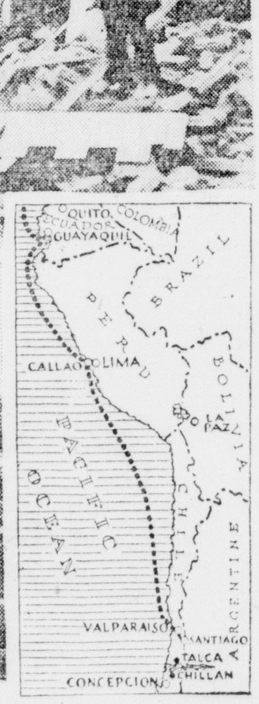
WHERE JOHN COOLIDGE AND HIS FIANCEE WILL WED



When Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Connecticut, and John Coolidge plight their troth, next summer, they probably will exchange vows in the beautiful home above, the residence of Miss Trumbull's parents at Plainville, Conn., where the bride-to-be says she and her fiance have "spent their happiest hours." It is believed the Rev. Charles S. Wycoff, formerly pastor of the Plainville Congregational church and now head of the Westminister preparatory school at Simsbury, Conn., will have a part in the ceremony. He is above, in the uniform of an army chaplain.

Cities Razed by Chilean Earthquake





Heavy loss of life and property is reported in interior of Chile following disastrous earthquake. The photo above shows view of main thoroughfare in town of Copiapo after the temblor of 1922; below, ruins of Chanaral after the same disturbance. Both cities are in zone of the present earthquake. The map shows route of President-elect Hoover's good will trip.

That the swim-run romance of delectable Alice Eldridge, famous Boston mermaid, and Joie Ray (inset), marathon runner, is soon to culminate in church ceremony, has been revealed by friends of the bride-to-be. Miss Eldridge is shown above as she appeared for an exercise swim.

She's On the Air!

Ganna Walska (above), whose numerous failures on the operatic stage haven't quenched the fires of her ambition to be a singer, is shown in photo making her debut as a radio artiste. In private life she is the wife of Harold McCormick, Chicago multi-millionaire.

HEART BALM TRIAL IN SECOND DAY; $10,000 DAMAGES ASKED

Jury trial of the $10,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Cora Harley, near Jamestown, against her sister-in-law, Hattie Harley, Jamestown, in which the plaintiff alleges the defendant alienated the affections of her husband, Joseph, entered its second day in Common Pleas Court Thursday. They married brothers.

Mrs. Harley, according to her petition, was married in 1904 and lived happily with her husband until four years ago when they first became estranged. They have six children.

The plaintiff charges that her sister-in-law attempted to deprive her of her husband's affections, asserting that in November, 1924 and many times since, she cintinued to meet him day and night in a clandestine manner.

The plaintiff is in possession of numerous letters purported to have been written by the defendant to Mrs. Harley's husband. A number of the letters were produced and read in court Thursday.

Attorney F. L. Johnson represents the plaintiff while L. T. and J. C. Marshall are attorneys for the defendant.

OHIO STATE BOARD MAY SELECT COACH

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6.—The athletic board of Ohio State University met here today to award letters, dispose of routine business and possibly appoint a successor to Dr. J. W. Wilce, state football mentor who has resigned to resume the practice of medicine.

While rumors and flat statements as to who will succeed Dr. Wilce, have been floating about, the athletic board has withheld definite announcement of whom they have under consideration.

Members of the board have said they would await the recommendations of Athletic Director L. W. St. John.

Editor The Gazette:

SUNDAY MOVIES

IS IT FAIR? That is the question that countless persons in this city would like to ask the some in the city in their objection and method of carrying out their opposition to exhibition of moving pictures in Xenia on Sunday.

First, is it fair for the young people of Xenia to be denied the one harmless pleasure that the more-or-less drab Xenia Sunday has to offer for entertainment?

Second, is it fair to have a jury composed of citizens from all over the county decide whether we shall be deprived of the one amusement we have for these long winter Sunday evenings? This is a question to be answered by citizens of the city only. Other residents of the county have the advantage of living in townships nearer such localities as Dayton, Springfield, Wilmington, Waynesville, Lebanon, and other nearby cities and towns—all of which have Sunday movies. Why, I ask you, should they care?

Third, is it fair to be so prejudiced as to permit baseball, football and other sports to be played; swimming pools to operate; drug stores, delicatessens, filling stations and sweet shops to remain open, and then take exception to Sunday moving pictures as though they were one of the Seven Deadly Sins,

I answer you frankly—NO!

The following conclusions are undeniably correct:

1. Sunday movie attendance by the young people of the vicinity is a far safer form of Sunday evening recreation than these so-called "joy rides."

2. Moving pictures—passed, as all must be, by the State Board of Censors—could not possibly be demoralizing. In fact, they are educational.

3. Since attendance at the theater is optional—let those who do not "believe" in them remain at home.

4. Operators of movie houses in Xenia have a right as business men of this community to try to keep at least a part of the money spent for amusement in these nearby cities on Sunday, in Xenia.

5. While we know that there is a law prohibiting all forms of amusement on Sunday— we also know that this law is of puritanical vintage and is being ignored in most every city of any consequence in the state. If Xenia is to grow we must accept these twentieth century ideas and all citizens must be broadminded in matters of this type. Let us turn thumbs down on such petty, narrow and selfish objections to such a clean sort of Sunday recreation.

BREAD AND WATER IS JAIL DIET

Bread and water was the daily menu faced by eleven prisoners in the County Jail Thursday.

Sheriff Ohmer Tate decided to take this drastic means of persuading the inmates to confess the identity of the culprit who set fire to the jail building last Monday.

All of the twenty-one prisoners were back in their cells Thursday, temporary repairs having been effected. The ten federal prisoners are not affected by the bread and water edict since it is believed they are without information as to the origin of the blaze.

The remaining county prisoners have also been deprived of tobacco and from seeing visitors. It is expected the prisoners will soon crave a change in the bill of fare and a confession will be forthcoming.

The Rev. H. O. Mason and family, E. Market St., left Wednesday for Sandusky, O., where they will make their future home. Mr. Mason has been called to the pastorate of the Second Baptist Church of that city.

Mrs. J. C. Johnson, E. Market St., has returned from Cleveland where she spent about a week the guest of relatives.

The Lend a Hand Circle of the First A. M. E. Church held an interesting session Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Maxwell, E. Main St. An excellent attendance was present. Among other things plans were made to assist the stewardesses with a reception December 20 for the new pastor, the Rev. R. D. Murdock.

Mr. Richard Aikens, proprietor of the Kozy Korner Barber Shop, returned home Wednesday from Detroit, where he spent his birthday anniversary with his mother, Mrs. Cornelia Aikens. Mrs. Aikens was a former resident of this city.

The Boy Scouts night, Mr. Everett Roberts, manager, at the Zion Baptist Church, was well attended Wednesday evening. Thursday night will be "Cinderella" night. Mrs. Lantie Cunningham, manager. This entertainment promises to be one of the high points in entertainment during the December bazaar.

The motion picture at East High auditorium Friday evening under the management of the volley ball club is in the interest of the arc light at the entrance of East High School.

WILLS FROBATED

Wills of sisters probated in Dayton recall a tragedy at the Jamestown Pike Pennsylvania Railroad crossing September 4, 1927, in which four lives were taken.

The wills were those of Anna C. Newton, who left an estate valued at $12,150 and of Margaret Snyder, who left $4,300. They were two of the four victims killed when a train struck their auto.

The Rev. H. O. Mason and family, E. Market St., left Wednesday for Sandusky, O., where they will make their future home. Mr. Mason has been called to the pastorate of the Second Baptist Church of that city.

Mrs. J. C. Johnson, E. Market St., has returned from Cleveland where she spent about a week the guest of relatives.

The Lend a Hand Circle of the First A. M. E. Church held an interesting session Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Maxwell, E. Main St. An excellent attendance was present. Among other things plans were made to assist the stewardesses with a reception December 20 for the new pastor, the Rev. R. D. Murdock.

Mr. Richard Aikens, proprietor of the Kozy Korner Barber Shop, returned home Wednesday from Detroit, where he spent his birthday anniversary with his mother, Mrs. Cornelia Aikens. Mrs. Aikens was a former resident of this city.

The Boy Scouts night, Mr. Everett Roberts, manager, at the Zion Baptist Church, was well attended Wednesday evening. Thursday night will be "Cinderella" night. Mrs. Lantie Cunningham, manager. This entertainment promises to be one of the high points in entertainment during the December bazaar.

The motion picture at East High auditorium Friday evening under the management of the volley ball club is in the interest of the arc light at the entrance of East High School.

WILLS FROBATED

Wills of sisters probated in Dayton recall a tragedy at the Jamestown Pike Pennsylvania Railroad crossing September 4, 1927, in which four lives were taken.

The wills were those of Anna C. Newton, who left an estate valued at $12,150 and of Margaret Snyder, who left $4,300. They were two of the four victims killed when a train struck their auto.

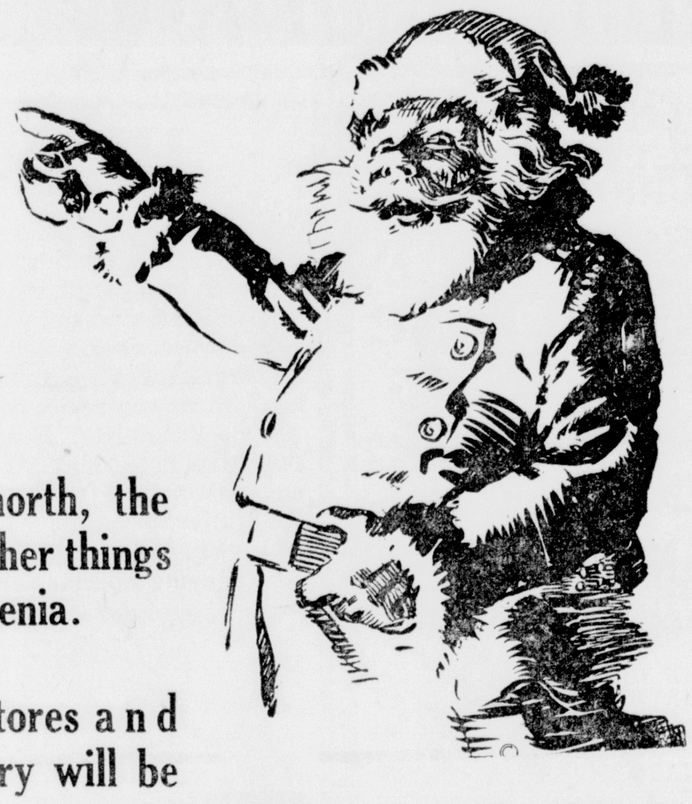
BESSIE L. PETERSON

Administratrix of the estate of Carl L. Peterson, deceased.

M. E. McCallister, Attorney for Administratrix.

Its Christmas TIME AGAIN!



A filter of snow, a sharp wind from the north, the gift suggestions in the newspaper,–these and other things are bringing the atmosphere of Christmas to Xenia.

Soon lighted trees will decorate streets, stores and residences, Christmas holly and other greenery will be hung, there will be a crush of shoppers on the streets and in the stores and suddenly, the tardy buyer, will find Christmas just in front of him and a long list of gifts to purchase.

There is the sudden rush to stores, the disappointment of finding stocks well-picked over, the tired clerks with nerves frayed and patience exhausted. Xenia is pretty at Christmas time—its street decorating scheme is famed far and wide--but back of the beauty, the hilarity and general joyfulness of the occasion, there is the pathos of over-worked salespeople striving to satisfy late comers disgruntled because of the exhausted stocks.

Xenia merchants began preparing for Christmas a year ago. Months ago they bought merchandise, holiday wrapping paper and boxes. For future delivery they contracted for special gift merchandise, toys and attractive holiday goods designed to attract the shoppers' eye.

If they had followed the lead of the late shopper and waited until the last minute, they would have found wholesale stocks depleted and jobbers out of gift stocks completely. The same situation prevails in the retail field.

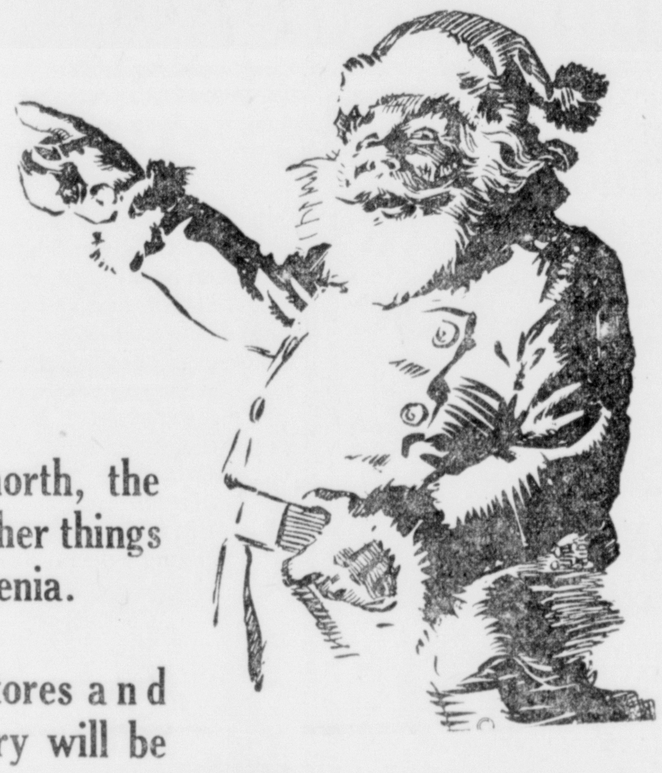
Early shoppers will find merchandise fresh and clean, stocked in large quantities, that provide plenty of choice for the buyer. Clerks not jaded by the late Christmas rush, are ready to attend to the wants of these early shoppers, eager to supply them with gift purchases from new and choice stocks.

The early shopper thus finds an ideal condition in Xenia stores now. Merchants are pleased to welcome early shoppers, because they feel that all their Christmas wants can be filled satisfactorily from the stocks in Xenia stores. That this condition exists is a tribute to these merchants and a promise to early shoppers.

Merchants believe these early comers will find shopping conditions pleasant, clerks equipped to give first-class service and merchandise in such volume that selection becomes a matter of discrimination instead of a matter of compulsion.

By shopping early this year you can do a good turn for both yourself and Xenia store forces.

Its Christmas TIME AGAIN!



A filter of snow, a sharp wind from the north, the gift suggestions in the newspaper,-these and other things are bringing the atmosphere of Christmas to Xenia.

Soon lighted trees will decorate streets, stores and residences, Christmas holly and other greenery will be hung, there will be a crush of shoppers on the streets and in the stores and suddenly, the tardy buyer, will find Christmas just in front of him and a long list of gifts to purchase.

There is the sudden rush to stores, the disappointment of finding stocks well-picked over, the tired clerks with nerves frayed and patience exhausted. Xenia is pretty at Christmas time—its street decorating scheme is famed far and wide--but back of the beauty, the hilarity and general joyfulness of the occasion, there is the pathos of over-worked salespeople striving to satisfy late comers disgruntled because of the exhausted stocks.

Xenia merchants began preparing for Christmas a year ago. Months ago they bought merchandise, holiday wrapping paper and boxes. For future delivery they contracted for special gift merchandise, toys and attractive holiday goods designed to attract the shoppers' eye.

If they had followed the lead of the late shopper and waited until the last minute, they would have found wholesale stocks depleted and jobbers out of gift stocks completely. The same situation prevails in the retail field.

Early shoppers will find merchandise fresh and clean, stocked in large quantities, that provide plenty of choice for the buyer. Clerks not jaded by the late Christmas rush, are ready to attend to the wants of these early shoppers, eager to supply them with gift purchases from new and choice stocks.

The early shopper thus finds an ideal condition in Xenia stores now. Merchants are pleased to welcome early shoppers, because they feel that all their Christmas wants can be filled satisfactorily from the stocks in Xenia stores. That this condition exists is a tribute to these merchants and a promise to early shoppers.

Merchants believe these early comers will find shopping conditions pleasant, clerks equipped to give first-class service and merchandise in such volume that selection becomes a matter of discrimination instead of a matter of compulsion.

By shopping early this year you can do a good turn for both yourself and Xenia store forces.

24 NORTH DETROIT STREET — XENIA, OHIO

D E MONSTRATIO NS TO FEATURE SCOUT COURT OF HONOR FRIDAY

The public is invited to the Boy Scout Court of Honor in the Central High School gymnasium Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The court is composed of Louis Hammerle, superintendent of schools; John Vanderpool, Dr. A. M. Patterson, Dr. W. A. Galloway and A. V. Miller.

A Scout bugler blowing assembly will announce the opening of the court and its members, robed, will then file into the room. Homer T. Gratz, field Scout executive, will call the court to order.

Applicants for Scout honors will stage demonstrations of Scout work. Demonstrations of second-class requirements will include: first aid, signalling, tracking, scout's pace (in which the candidate will run a mile in exactly twelve minutes) use of the knife and hatchet, fire making and cooking.

One Scout will use a black-board demonstration to show how to box a mariner's compass. The Scouts must give the five rules of safety and show that they have lived according to the Scout oath and law.

There are eighteen candidates from Xenia for second class Scouts. John Beachman, Xenia, is a candidate for a merit badge along with four Scouts from Yellow Springs and one Scout, Everett Jones, Xenia, is a candidate for the star rank.

Liquor Means "Life"

Channie Tripp, of Flint, Mich., is the first person in Michigan to be sentenced to life imprisonment for four offenses against the state prohibition law since the passage of a measure, two years ago, making punishment for a fourth offense mandatory life imprisonment.

CEDARVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Owens of Detroit, Mich., spent a few days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harve Owens last week.

Mrs. Robert Bird has been visiting her son, Mr. Harry Bird and wife of Manheim, Pa., and on her way home she stopped in Pittsburg to visit friends.

Mrs. Ralph Baldwin of Chicago, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Carrie Tomlinson of Plymouth, Ind. spent a few days with friends here on her way home from Boston last week. Tuesday she entertained a number of lady friends at dinner at Richard's lunch parlor. In the party were Mrs. Elizabeth Blair, Mrs. Mary McMillan, Mrs. S. T. Baker, Mrs. Cora Trumbo, Mrs. Minnie McMillan, Mrs. Allie Anderson, Mrs. J. W. Johnson, Mrs. Edith Blair and the hostess Mrs. Tomlinson. The party spent the afternoon in an informal social way at the home of Mrs. Mary McMillan on S. Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Galloway and family spent Thanksgiving holidays with Mrs. Galloway's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Summers in Huntington, W. Va.

Miss Margaret Jamieson spent a part of last week with friends in Pittsburgh.

Mrss. Ralph Townsley entertained the newly-organized Bridge Club at her home Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clemens and children spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Clemens' parents, Prof. F. M. Reynolds in Cincinnati.

Mr. Fred Weimer, who has been in California and the western states for several months is visiting his son Wilfred and family in Jamestown. Mr. Weimer was formerly of this place.

Mr. Cal Ewry and son, Fred, left by motor Tuesday for Southern Texas and California. They will be gone for the winter.

The Home and Foreign Missionary Society and the Aid Society of the M. E. Church met Wednesday in the church parlors.

Mr. Charles Marshall left Monday for Orlando, Fla. where he will spend the winter. Mr. Marshall has gone South for several years to spend the winter.

Mr. A. E. Richards went to Cleveland last week where he officiated as referee in the Wilberforce and West Virginia Collegiate Institute football game Thursday. These teams play a game each Thanksgiving day.

QUICK CHANGE TO HEALTH

Suddenly—you've stopped coughing!
"Triple-action" works FAST!

the Cough Syrup with TRIPLE ACTION
1 Soothing
2 Mildly laxative
3 Clears air passages

FOR 80 YEARS, Smith Brothers have been relieving coughs. Now all their long experience has been drawn upon to make a wonderful cough syrup.

This syrup works fast. Science says three things are necessary for swift relief from a cough. All three were provided for in this scientific triple-action cough syrup. It (1) soothes the irritated membranes of the throat (2) maintains healthful freedom of the intestinal tract, and (3) clears congested air passages.

The familiar delicious flavor of Smith Brothers' cough drops is in this syrup. It's pleasant to take! No opiates, no narcotics. Absolutely safe for children.

And the price is easy to pay. In the red box, at all druggists. 35c do you want $100 more for your old car?

Right now—this week—we can give it to you. Later on, in another week or two, we can't.

If you act now—you will have two things to be thankful for. You will own a new Super-Six, the six that leads all others in popularity, in volume of sales. And you will have bought it at a real bargain.

Leadership in quality has for years given Hudson-Essex outstanding public favor. And the growing volume has permitted economies passed on to buyers in price, far below any rival.

More than 1,000,000 Hudson-Essex cars in service, and this year the greatest sales in our history are simply the results of giving greater value than was ever offered at this price.

There can be no proof so convincing as the praise bestowed by Hudson-Essex owners, and the fact that these cars continue, as for years, the outstanding sales success of motordom.

Here is a chance to turn in your present car for more than it will ever be worth again. And—more important still—to own one of the first choice "Sixes," as proved by their sales leadership.

XENIA-JAMESTOWN

D E MONSTRATIO NS TO FEATURE SCOUT COURT OF HONOR FRIDAY

The public is invited to the Boy Scout Court of Honor in the Central High School gymnasium Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The court is composed of Louis Hammerle, superintendent of schools; John Vanderpool, Dr. A. M. Patterson, Dr. W. A. Galloway and A. V. Miller.

A Scout bugler blowing assembly will announce the opening of the court and its members, robed, will then file into the room. Homer T. Gratz, field Scout executive, will call the court to order.

Applicants for Scout honors will stage demonstrations of Scout work. Demonstrations of second-class requirements will include: first aid, signalling, tracking, scout's pace (in which the candidate will run a mile in exactly twelve minutes) use of the knife and hatchet, fire making and cooking.

One Scout will use a black-board demonstration to show how to box a mariner's compass. The Scouts must give the five rules of safety and show that they have lived according to the Scout oath and law.

There are eighteen candidates from Xenia for second class Scouts. John Beachman, Xenia, is a candidate for a merit badge along with four Scouts from Yellow Springs and one Scout, Everett Jones, Xenia, is a candidate for the star rank.

Liquor Means "Life"

Channie Tripp, of Flint, Mich., is the first person in Michigan to be sentenced to life imprisonment for four offenses against the state prohibition law since the passage of a measure, two years ago, making punishment for a fourth offense mandatory life imprisonment.

QUICK CHANGE TO HEALTH

Suddenly—you've stopped coughing!
"Triple-action" works FAST!

the Cough Syrup with TRIPLE ACTION
1 Soothing
2 Mildly laxative
3 Clears air passages

FOR 80 YEARS, Smith Brothers have been relieving coughs. Now all their long experience has been drawn upon to make a wonderful cough syrup.

This syrup works fast. Science says three things are necessary for swift relief from a cough. All three were provided for in this scientific triple-action cough syrup. It (1) soothes the irritated membranes of the throat (2) maintains healthful freedom of the intestinal tract, and (3) clears congested air passages.

The familiar delicious flavor of Smith Brothers' cough drops is in this syrup. It's pleasant to take! No opiates, no narcotics. Absolutely safe for children.

And the price is easy to pay. In the red box, at all druggists. 35c do you want $100 more for your old car?

Right now—this week—we can give it to you. Later on, in another week or two, we can't.

If you act now—you will have two things to be thankful for. You will own a new Super-Six, the six that leads all others in popularity, in volume of sales. And you will have bought it at a real bargain.

Leadership in quality has for years given Hudson-Essex outstanding public favor. And the growing volume has permitted economies passed on to buyers in price, far below any rival.

More than 1,000,000 Hudson-Essex cars in service, and this year the greatest sales in our history are simply the results of giving greater value than was ever offered at this price.

There can be no proof so convincing as the praise bestowed by Hudson-Essex owners, and the fact that these cars continue, as for years, the outstanding sales success of motordom.

Here is a chance to turn in your present car for more than it will ever be worth again. And—more important still—to own one of the first choice "Sixes," as proved by their sales leadership.

SLATER CALLED IN DEATH MYSTERY

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Dec. 6.—Ora Slater, noted Cincinnati detective, will arrive here today to investigate the death of Mary Downey, 18, whose body was found in a stone quarry near here last month. The coroner returned a suicide verdict but the girl's parents, relatives and friends insisting she was murdered, raised a fund to employ Slater.

Shortly after the girl disappeared relatives found a note indicating she intended to commit suicide. She had been shot to death and a pistol was found near her body. Mrs. Downey insists the note which bore her daughter's name, was not written by Mary.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Members of Troops No. 34, 40 and 45, Boy Scouts of America, who will receive recognition at Xenia's first Court of Honor Friday night, are asked to be present at Xenia Central High School at 7:30 p. m. Friday. Members of each troop will be assigned seats, together, and are to be attired in complete Scout uniforms.

Troop No. 45 will hold its regular meeting at the Scout cabin at 7 p. m. Friday. There will be a short session after which the Scouts will go in a body to the Court of Honor to receive their badges as second-class Scouts. About twenty members of the troop will receive this honor.

Each Scout is asked to invite his parents and a friend to the ceremony.

Owing to these exercises, there will be no regular meeting of Troop No. 41 Thursday night. All members of the troop are requested to attend the affair and invite their parents.

CHRISTIAN WORKER, 79, SAYS KONJOLA GAVE NEW HEALTH

Thirty Years of Stomach Trouble Made Life Miserable; New Medicine Completely Banished That Ailment

Konjola does not limit its healing and soothing powers to any particular age or sex. Men and women in all walks of life report glorious relief from their health troubles. Young and old, people in the seventies and eighties and children in the tender age below ten years have been given the bloom of renewed life and health. It is a surprising fact, but Konjola is at the peak of its powers in cases that have defied every other medicine and are of years duration. Its thirty-two ingredients, twenty-two of which are the juices from roots and herbs, go directly to the ailing organs, soothing, strengthening and invigorating them to a more healthy, normal action. The manner in which Konjola works is described in detail by Mr. J. B. Everett, 100 Allison Ave., this city, who made the following statement to the Konjola Man at the Gallaher Drug Store, 33 East Main St., this city:

"As a Christian worker I wish to let all sufferers know about Konjola, the most remarkable medicine on the market today," said Mr. Everett. "I have given it a fair trial and have gained amazing relief after thirty years of suffering.

"When I say that for thirty years I suffered from stomach trouble I am not exaggerating the slightest bit. Day in and day out the various miseries of a disordered organ came over me. Meals no longer held any pleasure, they became a torture and merely a means for nourishment—getting very little, at that. I am seventy-nine years old and thought that possibly my age might be the reason why I did not get relief. I was unable to find anything that agreed with me. Quantities of gas formed and remained in my stomach for hours at a time. Severe, piercing pains centered in my back, sometimes becoming so bad that they felt as if someone were sticking knives into me. To say that I was discouraged is putting it mildly. I began losing hope and this helped to make my life hardly worth living.

"Konjola was recommended to me and I had heard a great deal about this medicine and its wonderful deeds of restoring lost health. I felt that I could not afford to let this chance for betterment slip by. I made up my mind to start on the treatment and that decision proved the wisest I could have made. Konjola turned out to be exactly what I always needed. It went to the very source of my ailments, strengthening and invigorating the diseased organs to a more healthy, normal action. My stomach retained and digested food better than in thirty years. I hardly knew what to make of it. When I tried eating things that I never dared to touch before and they reacted perfectly, I knew that at last I was on the road to health. Today, after taking three bottles, there isn't a trace of stomach trouble. I eat and enjoy my meals just like other healthy people. The pains and gas bloating are ended. I am a new man, enjoying life and taking a keen interest in the daily activities. That is what Konjola has done for me and I know will do for others."

The Konjola Man is at the Gallaher Drug Store, Xenia, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this medicine. Adv.

Get Rid of Vile Nasal

CATARRH

30 DAYS FREE TRIAL

Insists His Discovery Opens Up Catarrh Stuffed Nostrils In Three Minutes-Sometimes Less

Advises All Catarrh Victims to Throw Away Stomach Medicines. End Loathsome Catarrh with Opex and Get Rid of Disgusting Mucus Forever

30 Days Free Trial Says H. L. Sayre

Catarrh, one of the most loathsome of diseases, is caused by germs—wicked, vicious, persistent pests that multiply rapidly and by digging into and devouring the tender membrane cause soreness, swelling, inflammation and mucous discharges.

A few years ago, Catarrh was considered incurable, because no one was clever enough to get together a formula that would spread over the membranes of the nasal tract a purifying substance in which catarrh germs could not exist.

But Opex changed all that and now all you have to do to get rid of catarrh is to spray on Opex and send the germs to eternity.

Just note the picture showing how Opex puts catarrh out of business. See the steam-like smoke going in one nostril and out the other.

When you use Opex you see the healing, purifying vapor as fine as smoke coming through the nostrils—and it will come through no matter how stuffed up they are.

That's the way to end catarrh and to lessen those annoying ringing, buzzing noises in the ears. Many people say it is the only way.

The price of a bottle of Opex that will last two months is $1.00—it is easily worth one hundred dollars to any man or woman who wants clean healthy nostrils free from disgusting mucus.

Opex will end the most stubborn case of catarrh in a few days, because it soothes and heals the sore, inflamed membranes, reduces the swelling and purifies the entire nasal tract.

To make it easy for catarrh sufferers in this vicinity to secure a bottle of Opex and a specially constructed Opex atomizer, H. L. Sayre has agreed to keep a supply on hand at all times and will gladly show anyone how easy it is to get rid of disgusting catarrh at trifling cost.

Opex is for sale only at H. L. Sayre's drug store, with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly returned. Opex is delightful to use because of its wholesome fragrance. Mail orders filled by H. L. Sayre.

Keep your nostrils as clean as your teeth.

READ THIS FIRST:

The marriage of Byrd Hamilton of Jacksonville, and Larry Browning, a successful young business man from Cleveland, was one of unusual simplicity and beauty; but several factors, of deep significance to her happiness, caused an uneasiness in Byrd's mind, even during the ceremony, and within the next few days grew into a definite anxiety. For Larry had undoubted magnetism, a charm, that women couldn't resist and had brought him already a dubious success in business. And he had become the center of a young crowd whose only interests in life were jazz, speed and money.

Larry's friends become a permanent entertainment committee, constantly arranging dinners and parties. The group consists of Tiny and Fred Oberman, who has made a fortune in rather doubtful enterprises; Jack Duncan, who made love to all women and was unscrupulous in business; his wife, Margy, who has broken under the care of her three little children and the worry over her indifferent husband; Chet Everson and India Campbell, known as the "wildcat" and a former sweetheart of Larry's.

Byrd was distressed over Larry's extravagance, his inability to give her a monthly allowance when he was paying large sums to his bootlegger, his continued interest in India and, after a bitter quarrel, his ultimatum to her that she had to adapt herself to her new life and cease being "the corner policeman patrolling his beat."

Jack and Larry were floating the Builders' Supply stock and needed every bit of capital they could scrape together to finance it. Under the pressure of economy, Byrd began again to cook their dinners, which they had been taking in the dining room of the apartment hotel where they lived. After helping Margy all day with her sick baby, Byrd returned late to find Larry in a temper over a tardy dinner and without listening to her explanations, walked out of the apartment.

(Now Go On With the Story)

CHAPTER XVI

Byrd went into the living room and threw herself into the big chair and, burying her head in the crook of her arm, cried as if her heart would break.

She told herself that Larry was acting like a spoiled child, and that if she would teach him a lesson once, for good and for all, she would save herself much anguish and suffering in the future. But her heart made excuses.

Larry's mother and father were dead. His only relatives lived in California. He hadn't a chick or a child to care for him except herself. Still, she argued, if she packed up and went home for a few weeks, just to frighten and make him think she wasn't coming back, it would bring him to his senses.

But the thought of leaving Larry sent a little wave of terror through her body.

After she had stopped crying, she convinced herself that things weren't as bad as she thought they were a few minutes ago. It was a fit of temper, and Larry would soon be over it. She was sure he was as miserable as she was. That was punishment enough. Perhaps his conscience was heaping coals of fire on his head right now, and in a little while he'd sneak back and admit it.

Byrd placed the steak in the icebox. The vegetables, cleaned and freshened in icy water, didn't look half bad. Then she broiled a little end of the steak.

She ate her dinner alone, wondering when things would straighten themselves out and she and Larry would settle down to a normal, married life.

In the morning she would have to tell Larry about the fender.

She was afraid that that would bring another outbreak.

She began to understand and appreciate the feeling of terror that colored all of Margy's relations with Jack.

After she had cleaned up the kitchen, setting the half dozen cup cakes she had brought from Margy's, for dessert, out invitingly on the table, she hauled out Margy's stuffed bag of weeks and weeks of mending, which she had brought along, too.

At ten o'clock she decided not to wait up for Larry, since he misinterpreted her motives if he as much as suspected that she was waiting purposely for him. Byrd seemed to have been sleeping for hours, when she heard quiet voices in the kitchen.

The old familiar night sounds, the breaking of ice, the rattling of the cocktail shaker.

Occasionally she heard a giggle, quickly suppressed. A shuffling of feet around the floor in an experimental dance-step.

Then the bed room door opened very quietly, and Larry's head was visible in the crack.

He listened intently to Byrd's regular breathing. Then the door closed softly.

In an instant Byrd was out of bed, listening at the door.

"Thank goodness! Sound asleep!" Larry was saying with a chuckle. "All tired out amusing herself all day."

"And I stand on my little platforms, wearing out one pair of silk stockings after the other," said India, in her slow drawl, "but I hope I've got pep enough left to keep me going all night."

"Well, there's a midnight lunch all spread out for us," said Larry, "but first let's go somewhere and dance up an appetite for it."

India laughed her low, tantalizing laugh.

"And I brag about my pep! You've got more dynamite in your little finger, Pepsodent, than any ten men I know have got in their whole carcasses."

There was more shaking of ice, and more sounds, not so well suppressed now: teasing, laughing, provocative sounds. There was a rush of footsteps in and out of the kitchen, and breakfast room and into the kitchen again.

Then a scuffle . . .

India's low, murmurous laugh. . . silence. . .

A few minutes later they tiptoed silently out of the apartment.

At the first opportunity, Byrd hurried over to the storage garage, where they kept their car. She would take it to the service station, where they went for repairs, and tell them that it had to be fixed at any cost by evening.

She had asked Larry to leave it for her.

But the car was gone. The attendant told her that Larry had taken it.

Dew broke out on her forehead. Larry would be terribly harsh about that fender.

Byrd went back to the apartment and telephoned Margy.

"Peter's slightly better today," said Margy, in a voice that sounded fresh and rested after a good night's sleep.

"Jack reconciled to paying out a little money to save the life of his child?" asked Byrd, bitterly.

"Why what do you mean?" asked Margy, surprised. "It was just that Jack didn't realize the seriousness of Peter's illness."

It was perfectly natural, thought Byrd, that Margy should defend Jack. Love was deaf, dumb and blind. She knew she would be the same way about Larry.

"Well, he was cross at first," admitted Margy, "but Miss Sommer heard us arguing. She came into the room in her quiet, efficient way, and told Jack she was able to judge whether a child was really ill enough to require her services. Jack was terribly fussed."

"Serves him right, too!" said Byrd, trying to keep the triumphant note out of her voice.

"Jack surrendered like a lamb," said Margy. "I guess it was because she's so good looking and has charm. Anyway, he stayed at home last night, the first time in a week."

Poor Margy! She was glad to have Jack at home just for one night, even though she knew it was another's charm that had lured him there.

Married life was likely to become a prison, thought Byrd. It was so easy to reduce it to the narrow confines of prison walls. Margy moved behind her iron palings, having long ago lost the ambition to even gaze out and see the great, green world outside.

Byrd decided to start lunch. Last Saturday Larry had surprised her by coming home at noon. Perhaps he would surprise her again.

As if in response to her ardent wishe, the telephone rang, and she ran eagerly to answer it.

"Is this Mrs. Browning?" asked a quiet voice. "Mr. Everson wishes to speak to you."

"Hello Byrd," said Chet, gayly.

"How come?" asked Byrd. "Since when have you been promoted to a job with a private secretary attached to it?"

"Didn't you know?" said Chet. "I thought it would be mentioned in the society columns. Well, the president couldn't overlook the wonderful record I've made the last five years and I've been made cashier of their Euclid branch. Just two blocks from the Coronado."

"Wonderful!" said Byrd, with genuine sincerity in her voice. "I'm terribly proud of you. I missed you lately, but I might have known you've been sitting up nights, pulling wires and writing up your recommendations."

"I thought we might celebrate my phenomenal progress in the banking world by going to the baseball game this afternoon. I have four tickets. Larry and India said it was O. K. with them. They'll meet us at the gate and I'll call for you."

"That's fine," agreed Byrd. "Why don't you run up right now and have lunch with me?"

Byrd's heart was beating a little faster, for she suddenly realized that she was doing exactly what she had told Larry married people should not do.

But there was really nothing thrilling or unlicensed in having lunch with Chet. He excited nothing but a brotherly feeling in her.

"Everything's all ready, for I was expecting Larry," said Byrd, knowing Chet's presence would ease her disappointment.

In a few minutes, he was ringing the bell.

There was nothing distinguished looking about Chet. He was average height, average weight, with average good looks. But he commanded confidence because of the absolute integrity that radiated from his blue eyes. . . because of the trustworthiness that emanated from every motion of his youthful, wiry, slender body.

His sandy hair always needed brushing, and his blue eyes were always wrinkled in one of those changing expressions that made his face a window for his soul.

And something hard, like the elements, stuck out all over him.

Chet was the type that all women admire, but few love. Why hadn't she chosen to marry Chet's type, thought Byrd, instead of the gay, virile, temperamental Larry?

Chet came out into the kitchen.

Byrd had taken out the cocktail shaker and had started to break up some ice.

"Nothing for me, Byrd," he said, shaking his head. "But don't let that dampen your own enthusiasm."

But the strange thing about it was that Byrd wouldn't have hesitated to drink a cocktail with Chet.

"You know I seldom drink anything—only when I can't get out of it," said Byrd, smiling. "I was trying to be hospitable—and — a good sport!"

The memory of her wedding night suddenly gripped her with icy fingers and then passed like the memory of a bad dream. She wouldn't let her mind linger on those harrowing hours she had spent all alone that first night of their marriage.

"A good sport" . . . she bit her lip to keep from groaning. . . .

She hadn't progressed very far in that respect. . . .

"A good sport" . . . the words caught in her throat. . . .

Chet looked at her quickly, and then turned his eyes away. They seemed to say that in his opinion, and in the biggest sense of the word, she had been a fine sport.

READ THIS FIRST:

The marriage of Byrd Hamilton of Jacksonville, and Larry Browning, a successful young business man from Cleveland, was one of unusual simplicity and beauty; but several factors, of deep significance to her happiness, caused an uneasiness in Byrd's mind, even during the ceremony, and within the next few days grew into a definite anxiety. For Larry had undoubted magnetism, a charm, that women couldn't resist and had brought him already a dubious success in business. And he had become the center of a young crowd whose only interests in life were jazz, speed and money.

Larry's friends become a permanent entertainment committee, constantly arranging dinners and parties. The group consists of Tiny and Fred Oberman, who has made a fortune in rather doubtful enterprises; Jack Duncan, who made love to all women and was unscrupulous in business; his wife, Margy, who has broken under the care of her three little children and the worry over her indifferent husband; Chet Everson and India Campbell, known as the "wildcat" and a former sweetheart of Larry's.

Byrd was distressed over Larry's extravagance, his inability to give her a monthly allowance when he was paying large sums to his bootlegger, his continued interest in India and, after a bitter quarrel, his ultimatum to her that she had to adapt herself to her new life and cease being "the corner policeman patrolling his beat."

Jack and Larry were floating the Builders' Supply stock and needed every bit of capital they could scrape together to finance it. Under the pressure of economy, Byrd began again to cook their dinners, which they had been taking in the dining room of the apartment hotel where they lived. After helping Margy all day with her sick baby, Byrd returned late to find Larry in a temper over a tardy dinner and without listening to her explanations, walked out of the apartment.

(Now Go On With the Story)

CHAPTER XVI

Byrd went into the living room and threw herself into the big chair and, burying her head in the crook of her arm, cried as if her heart would break.

She told herself that Larry was acting like a spoiled child, and that if she would teach him a lesson once, for good and for all, she would save herself much anguish and suffering in the future. But her heart made excuses.

Larry's mother and father were dead. His only relatives lived in California. He hadn't a chick or a child to care for him except herself. Still, she argued, if she packed up and went home for a few weeks, just to frighten and make him think she wasn't coming back, it would bring him to his senses.

But the thought of leaving Larry sent a little wave of terror through her body.

After she had stopped crying, she convinced herself that things weren't as bad as she thought they were a few minutes ago. It was a fit of temper, and Larry would soon be over it. She was sure he was as miserable as she was. That was punishment enough. Perhaps his conscience was heaping coals of fire on his head right now, and in a little while he'd sneak back and admit it.

Byrd placed the steak in the icebox. The vegetables, cleaned and freshened in icy water, didn't look half bad. Then she broiled a little end of the steak.

She ate her dinner alone, wondering when things would straighten themselves out and she and Larry would settle down to a normal, married life.

In the morning she would have to tell Larry about the fender.

She was afraid that that would bring another outbreak.

She began to understand and appreciate the feeling of terror that colored all of Margy's relations with Jack.

After she had cleaned up the kitchen, setting the half dozen cup cakes she had brought from Margy's, for dessert, out invitingly on the table, she hauled out Margy's stuffed bag of weeks and weeks of mending, which she had brought along, too.

At ten o'clock she decided not to wait up for Larry, since he misinterpreted her motives if he as much as suspected that she was waiting purposely for him. Byrd seemed to have been sleeping for hours, when she heard quiet voices in the kitchen.

The old familiar night sounds, the breaking of ice, the rattling of the cocktail shaker.

Occasionaliy she heard a giggle, quickly suppressed. A shuffling of feet around the floor in an experimental dance-step.

Then the bed room door opened very quietly, and Larry's head was visible in the crack.

He listened intently to Byrd's regular breathing. Then the door closed softly.

In an instant Byrd was out of bed, listening at the door.

"Thank goodness! Sound asleep!" Larry was saying with a chuckle. "All tired out amusing herself all day."

"And I stand on my little platforms, wearing out one pair of silk stockings after the other," said India, in her slow drawl, "but I hope I've got pep enough left to keep me going all night."

"Well, there's a midnight lunch all spread out for us," said Larry, "but first let's go somewhere and dance up an appetite for it."

India laughed her low, tantalizing laugh.

"And I brag about my pep! You've got more dynamite in your little finger, Pepsodent, than any ten men I know have got in their whole carcasses."

There was more shaking of ice, and more sounds, not so well suppressed now: teasing, laughing, provocative sounds. There was a rush of footsteps in and out of the kitchen, and breakfast room and into the kitchen again.

Then a scuffle . . .

India's low, murmurous laugh. . . silence. . .

A few minutes later they tiptoed silently out of the apartment.

At the first opportunity, Byrd hurried over to the storage garage, where they kept their car. She would take it to the service station, where they went for repairs, and tell them that it had to be fixed at any cost by evening.

She had asked Larry to leave it for her.

But the car was gone. The attendant told her that Larry had taken it.

Dew broke out on her forehead. Larry would be terribly harsh about that fender.

Byrd went back to the apartment and telephoned Margy.

"Peter's slightly better today," said Margy, in a voice that sounded fresh and rested after a good night's sleep.

"Jack reconciled to paying out a little money to save the life of his child?" asked Byrd, bitterly.

"Why what do you mean?" asked Margy, surprised. "It was just that Jack didn't realize the seriousness of Peter's illness."

It was perfectly natural, thought Byrd, that Margy should defend Jack. Love was deaf, dumb and blind. She knew she would be the same way about Larry.

"Well, he was cross at first," admitted Margy, "but Miss Sommer heard us arguing. She came into the room in her quiet, efficient way, and told Jack she was able to judge whether a child was really ill enough to require her services. Jack was terribly fussed."

"Serves him right, too!" said Byrd, trying to keep the triumphant note out of her voice.

"Jack surrendered like a lamb," said Margy. "I guess it was because she's so good looking and has charm. Anyway, he stayed at home last night, the first time in a week."

Poor Margy! She was glad to have Jack at home just for one night, even though she knew it was another's charm that had lured him there.

Married life was likely to become a prison, thought Byrd. It was so easy to reduce it to the narrow confines of prison walls. Margy moved behind her iron palings, having long ago lost the ambition to even gaze out and see the great, green world outside.

Byrd decided to start lunch. Last Saturday Larry had surprised her by coming home at noon. Perhaps he would surprise her again.

As if in response to her ardent wishe, the telephone rang, and she ran eagerly to answer it.

"Is this Mrs. Browning?" asked a quiet voice. "Mr. Everson wishes to speak to you."

"Hello Byrd," said Chet, gayly.

"How come?" asked Byrd. "Since when have you been promoted to a job with a private secretary attached to it?"

"Didn't you know?" said Chet. "I thought it would be mentioned in the society columns. Well, the president couldn't overlook the wonderful record I've made the last five years and I've been made cashier of their Euclid branch. Just two blocks from the Coronado."

"Wonderful!" said Byrd, with genuine sincerity in her voice. "I'm terribly proud of you. I missed you lately, but I might have known you've been sitting up nights, pulling wires and writing up your recommendations."

"I thought we might celebrate my phenomenal progress in the banking world by going to the baseball game this afternoon. I have four tickets. Larry and India said it was O. K. with them. They'll meet us at the gate and I'll call for you."

"That's fine," agreed Byrd. "Why don't you run up right now and have lunch with me?"

Byrd's heart was beating a little faster, for she suddenly realized that she was doing exactly what she had told Larry married people should not do.

But there was really nothing thrilling or unlicensed in having lunch with Chet. He excited nothing but a brotherly feeling in her.

"Everything's all ready, for I was expecting Larry," said Byrd, knowing Chet's presence would ease her disappointment.

In a few minutes, he was ringing the bell.

There was nothing distinguished looking about Chet. He was average height, average weight, with average good looks. But he commanded confidence because of the absolute integrity that radiated from his blue eyes. . . because of the trustworthiness that emanated from every motion of his youthful, wiry, slender body.

His sandy hair always needed brushing, and his blue eyes were always wrinkled in one of those changing expressions that made his face a window for his soul.

And something hard, like the elements, stuck out all over him.

Chet was the type that all women admire, but few love. Why hadn't she chosen to marry Chet's type, thought Byrd, instead of the gay, virile, temperamental Larry?

Chet came out into the kitchen.

Byrd had taken out the cocktail shaker and had started to break up some ice.

"Nothing for me, Byrd," he said, shaking his head. "But don't let that dampen your own enthusiasm."

But the strange thing about it was that Byrd wouldn't have hesitated to drink a cocktail with Chet.

"You know I seldom drink anything—only when I can't get out of it," said Byrd, smiling. "I was trying to be hospitable—and — a good sport!"

The memory of her wedding night suddenly gripped her with icy fingers and then passed like the memory of a bad dream. She wouldn't let her mind linger on those harrowing hours she had spent all alone that first night of their marriage.

"A good sport" . . . she bit her lip to keep from groaning. . . .

She hadn't progressed very far in that respect. . . .

"A good sport" . . . the words caught in her throat. . . .

Chet looked at her quickly, and then turned his eyes away. They seemed to say that in his opinion, and in the biggest sense of the word, she had been a fine sport.

BRINGING UP FATHER — By GEORGE McMANUS

The Theater

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—This is heresy: A play out of the storehouse—Ibsen's "The Wild Duck"—is a better talking movie than the talking movies. Except it isn't a talking movie, and probably never will be.

I saw the Actors Theater revival several years ago; and I've seen this year's Actors Theater revival. (With the exception of Blanche Yurka and Linda Watkins I don't believe the cast as good—but, no matter, the cast is ten times as good as the average talkie cast). What I desire to say is this, one could sit through the conversation of "The Wild Duck" several times and always find something vitally new. But if one sits through—all the way through—the average talkie without yawning it's because he already is asleep.

Perhaps if and when the newspaper play, "The Front Page," gets to the talkie screen proceedings will be enlivened. But, oh, no, its language is too salty and it's too humorously vulgar ever to get into talking pictures. . . .

George Scarborough, movie playwright, has been named dialogue consultant by United Artists. . . . On the same stage in Hollywood, Mary Pickford is working on "Coquette" during the day while "Nightstick" is being made at night. Both are talkies. . .Colleen Moore is busy on "That's a Bad Girl."

Frank Lloyd is directing Richard Barthelmess and Betty Compson in "Weary River," story of a singing convict. . . . Douglas Fairbanks is breaking a rule in following up "The Iron Mask," sequel to "The Three Musketeers," with another picture immediately. . . .

George Jessel's "Lucky Boy," singing and talking, is being filmed in and around New York because the star is on the legitimate stage there. . . . Conway Tearle has signed for the talkies.

CHARLES CHAPLIN

Charlie Chaplin, who breaks two precedents in the premiere of his next picture.

The picture will not be first shown in Hollywood. That's precedent No. 1. It will not be first shown in the U. S. A. That's precedent No. 2.

Chaplin's next picture will first bow to the world from a London, England, screen. London is his home town.

Twenty Years '08- Ago -'28

The Yellow Springs independent football team played a no-score game with the Antioch College team.

Charles Carroll was elected president of Xenia Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

A picked team of Xenia basketball players who are still seeking a suitable name, played the Cedarville College team at Cedarville and lost 36 to 14.

The scheme to obtain the uptown Pennsylvania depot site has fallen through.

John T. Barnett, who recently bought the old Arnold property on Spring Hill from Chas. G. Williamson, Springfield, may fit it up for an apartment house.

Yellow Springs

Bryan High School opened its doors to the public Wednesday evening when the first game of basketball was played in the new High School between the Bryan High School team and Pitchin High. The new gymnasium hall is complete in every way and all who attended this opening game were loud in their praise of the fine hall, splendid floor, comfortable seats and the beautiful new building. The games between the two teams were very exciting. The Bryan High girls were victorious over the Pitchin High team, making a score of 20 to 31. The Bryan High Boys were defeated by a score of 14 to 20. However, they put up a good fight. Another exciting game is scheduled for Friday night when both teams play Bath High School teams. The students started into the new school Monday morning after the Thanksgiving vacation.

Friends here were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Charles Lomax of Chicago, Mrs. Lomax was formerly of this place. She was a daughter of [illegible] Patrick Abbey. Besides her husband and father she is survived by four sisters, Miss Ella, who resides here with her father, Mrs. Len Adsit of Greenfield, Mrs. Anna Jolly of Springfield and Mrs. Bert Spriggs of Jamestown.

Mrs. Wiant of Springfield was the speaker for the thank offering service of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church Sunday morning.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church will hold its annual Christmas bazaar and chicken supper in the basement of the church Thursday evening. Supper will be served at 5:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Tibbs of the Dayton Pike are the parents of a little daughter born Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burras of North Fairfield and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Collins and little daughter of Cedarville spent Thanksgiving with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Ford Kershner.

Clyde Dawson, a student at O. S. U. Columbus spent the Thanksgiving vacation with his mother, Mrs. William Dawson.

Miss Frances Huff went to Newark Wednesday where she spent Thanksgiving, returning home Friday.

Mrs. W. E. Jacobs and daughter, Miss Anna entertained with a miscellaneous "shower" Monday evening in honor of Miss Elizabeth Moorman whose marriage to David Davitt of Chicago, will take place soon.

Mrs. Edna Pultz Walker of Dayton, was hostess Monday afternoon to the Mispah Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Joseph Patton is the teacher. The members motored to Mrs. Walker's home on Forest Ave., Dayton, where they had a Christmas party.

Miss Mary Taylor, teacher at Painesville and Miss Jean Taylor, student at Muskingum College, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with their parents.

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Willey and son, Robert, of Marion, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. John Birch.

YOUNG PEOPLE WLL MEET NEXT FRIDAY

The young people of the Springfield group of Dayton Presbytery will meet at a conference and banquet at Yellow Springs Presbyterian Church next Friday evening at 5 o'clock.

Delegations will be there from Springfield, South Charleston, Clifton, Cedarville, Xenia and Yellow Springs. Special speakers and conference leaders are engaged. The banquet will be served at 6:00 p. m. There will be plenty of pep and songs and fun, according to the committee in charge.

BELLBROOK

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morris and Spencer Swigart, of Cincinnati, were Bellbrook visitors last Sunday.

Hon. George H. Thorne was in Columbus on legal business last Wednesday.

Mrs. Alma Maxwell and children have moved into the old Conner property south of town.

Councilman J. W. Anthony was a Columbus visitor last Wednesday.

Five charges have been filed in the justice's court against hunters during the past week.

Elwood Ryne had his machine to turn turtle one night last week. No serious damage was done.

Rev. Graham preached to the Jr. and D. of A. lodges at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday night.

Arthur Wright who was ill with grip for several days, is reported better.

OPERA STAR'S DAUGHTER WEDS

This photo of the noted opera singer, Feodor Chaliapin, was taken as he accompanied his daughter, Miss Marfe Chaliapin, to her wedding to Daniel Gardner at the Russian church in Paris, France.

Yellow Springs

Bryan High School opened its doors to the public Wednesday evening when the first game of basketball was played in the new High School between the Bryan High School team and Pitchin High. The new gymnasium hall is complete in every way and all who attended this opening game were loud in their praise of the fine hall, splendid floor, comfortable seats and the beautiful new building. The games between the two teams were very exciting. The Bryan High girls were victorious over the Pitchin High team, making a score of 20 to 31. The Bryan High Boys were defeated by a score of 14 to 20. However, they put up a good fight. Another exciting game is scheduled for Friday night when both teams play Bath High School teams. The students started into the new school Monday morning after the Thanksgiving vacation.

Friends here were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Charles Lomax of Chicago. Mrs. Lomax was formerly of this place. She was a daughter of [illegible] Patrick Abbey. Besides her husband and father she is survived by four sisters, Miss Ella, who resides here with her father, Mrs. Len Adsit of Greenfield, Mrs. Anna Jolly of Springfield and Mrs. Bert Spriggs of Jamestown.

Mrs. Wiant of Springfield was the speaker for the thank offering service of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church Sunday morning.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church will hold its annual Christmas bazaar and chicken supper in the basement of the church Thursday evening. Supper will be served at 5:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Tibbs of the Dayton Pike are the parents of a little daughter born Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burras of North Fairfield and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Collins and little daughter of Cedarville spent Thanksgiving with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Ford Kershner.

Clyde Dawson, a student at O. S. U. Columbus spent the Thanksgiving vacation with his mother, Mrs. William Dawson.

Miss Frances Huff went to Newark Wednesday where she spent Thanksgiving, returning home Friday.

Mrs. W. E. Jacobs and daughter, Miss Anna entertained with a miscellaneous "shower" Monday evening in honor of Miss Elizabeth Moorman whose marriage to David Davitt of Chicago, will take place soon.

Mrs. Edna Pultz Walker of Dayton, was hostess Monday afternoon to the Mispah Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Joseph Patton is the teacher. The members motored to Mrs. Walker's home on Forest Ave., Dayton, where they had a Christmas party.

Miss Mary Taylor, teacher at Painesville and Miss Jean Taylor, student at Muskingum College, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with their parents.

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Willey and son, Robert, of Marion, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. John Birch.
